Volume Twelve

The Annual Publication of the Senior Class of Trinity College
of
Duke University
Durham, North Carolina

Foreword

AS Trinity College merges into Duke University, an institution of larger scope and of ever-broadening influence and possibilities in the educational and cultural life of the South and the nation, the class of nineteen twenty-five, as no other class, occupies the unique position of being at once a part of the old and a part of the new. We who love the old Trinity accept with enthusiasm the new Duke as our Alma Mater and are proud to offer our Chanticleer as the first annual student publication bearing her name. With hopeful faces toward the future, we desire at the same time to cherish in our memories the ties that have bound us to the dear old college as we have known her, and we present this volume with the hope that in picture and story it will serve as a reminder of the happy days that we have spent here, and that it will help to keep alive in our hearts the joy with which we respond to the name of Trinity and of Duke.

Dedication

With keenest appreciation for the very magnificent way in which he has made possible for our Alma Mater a future of splendid achievement,
we dedicate this volume
of the Chanticleer

to

James Buchanan Duke

a man possessing that rare combination of a mind able to acquire for him
a position of pre-eminence in the world of material things and a heart dominated by the desire to invest his wealth where it will accomplish the most for those of his and of future times.

THE

Second Year Law

CHARLES WARE BUNDY, $\Sigma N \Phi$

A.B., TRINITY

MONROE, NORTH CAROLINA

Charlie is an apt student of the law. He believes that time, patience, and perseverance, together with diligence, will accomplish all things in a successful life; hence his steady application to everything which he does.

WILLIAM SIDNEY CARVER, $K \Lambda, \Sigma N \Phi$

ROUEMONT, NORTH CAROLINA

Willie helps to look after the social affairs of the Law School. When he is not engaged in his studies, he may be seen conferring with some young lady on the campus. It is reported that he makes occasional visits to Southgate.

CHARLES STUART HAMMOND, $\Lambda X \Lambda$

A.B., TRINITY

ROWLAND, NORTH CAROLINA

"Rock," as he is known among the students, is always ready to listen to a good joke or to tell one. "Rock's" jovial disposition will no doubt win for him many clients in his law practice as it has won for him friends in the University.

CHARLES E. JORDAN, $\Sigma N \Phi$

A.B., TRINITY

HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

We don't know what the "E" stands for in Charlie's name, for he never tells anyone. However, we feel that, when he gets through taking week-end trips to Vance County, somebody will know about it. We are expecting Jordan to follow in the footsteps of his father; consequently he is known in the class as "The Reverend."

ARTHUR WILLIAMS MEWSHAW, $\Sigma N \Phi$

RELAY, MARYLAND

Mewshaw is the only man in the Senior Law Class who hails from another state, but for certain known reasons he knows more North Carolina politicians than all the other members of the class combined. Mewshaw is a diligent student, and will make an able lawyer.

THOMAS GILL NEAL, $\Pi K \Lambda, \Sigma N \Phi$

A.B., TRINITY

LAURINBURG, NORTH CAROLINA

"Tom" has forsaken athletics, and has at last really tried to learn something worth while. He is a good student, and his January examination which he passed in Raleigh speaks for him.

DENT TURNER, $\Sigma \Phi E, \Sigma N \Phi$

STATESVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Dent, the only married man in the Law School, has turned over a new leaf and is making good as a law student. Last fall Dent volunteered to play on the lawyers' football team, for he said that he placed very little value on his life.

WILLOUGHBY FOSTER YOUNG, $K \Sigma, \Sigma N \Phi$

WILSON, NORTH CAROLINA

"Red" probably has one of the best minds in the School, although his other nickname is "Me, Too." "Red" can always be relied upon to recite on any hypothetical case that Dr. Mordcau gives him. "Red" is good in his work and is well liked by all the boys.

Hymn to Duke

R. H. JAMES, '24

*Dear old Duke, thy name we sing,
To thee our voices raise,
To thee our anthems ring
In everlasting praise,
And 'though on life's broad sea
Our fate may far us bear,
We'll ever turn to thee,
Our Alma Mater dear.*

To Mother Trinity

H. C. SPRINKLE, '23

*Thy name—ah, yes, 'tis dear—as dear to me
As is mine own; for thou hast borne it long,
And, Mother mine, in story and in song,
Thy name in matchless glory stands for thee.
But dearer far than name can ever be
Or aught or all that to thee doth belong
Art thou thyself. Oh, may thy friends be strong
To strengthen thee, and spread from sea to sea
The power thou art for God and truth and right.
Beloved Mother, Trinity of yore,
Thou hast awakened dreams in men of might
And stirred great hearts and brave that beat no more.
Live on, and still the foes to truth rebuke!
Be thou the heart and soul of greater Duke!*

Elmo Hertford Alligood

WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Y. M. C. A.; Columbian Literary Society; Folklore Society; Track Squad (2); Physics Club (2).

"What's in a name?" was not spoken of Alligood, for he lives up to the one he bears. He always appears to be in a hurry, and, when he gets there, he puts his job across in an "all good" fashion. Four years of hard work in Trinity is a record of which anyone might well be proud. Elmo has accomplished that, and bids fair to achieve success in the next lap of his course.

Sudie Mae Baker

HOLLY SPRINGS, NORTH CAROLINA

Athena Literary Society; Junior Big Sisters; Y. W. C. A.

Always a smile, always a cheery word, always a helping hand, Sudie Mae has "brightened her corner" during her university days. Perhaps books have not been her forte, yet her whole-hearted interest in living surely counts. Since she majors in education, we guess that she is planning to teach school. We wonder who knows!

William Speight Barnes

Φ B K

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Physics Club (1, 2, 3), President (2); Hesperian Literary Society (1, 2, 3, 4); Assistant in Physics (2); Class Football (1); Sophomore Honors; Student Council (3); Secretary-Treasurer of Men's Association (3); Chairman Student Council (4); President of Men's Association (4); Y. M. C. A., Vice-President (4); Class Vice-President (3); Council of Religious Interests (4), Vice-Chairman (4); 9019; Iota Gamma Pi; Tombs; Red Friars.

Speight hasn't left us much space in which to write about him. His list of honors speaks for itself, and every one of them was deserved. Speight is a real man, head and shoulders above the rest of us.

Elsie Claire Brauers

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Brooks Literary Society (1, 2); Treasurer of Junior Big Sisters (3); Durham High School Club (1, 2, 3, 4); Town Representative on Student Council (4).

Perhaps it isn't her fault, but it is to her credit that she is naturally good-looking—tall, graceful, charming—just the type we wanted for the Queen of May. Aside from those qualities, the heart of her makes her a most pleasant acquaintance, a lovable friend, and the staunchest chum one could possess.

Sara Foy Wiggs

STATESVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Mitchell College (1, 2); Class Basketball (3); Brooks Literary Society (3, 4); Junior Big Sisters (4).

She is head and shoulders above the most of us, but that doesn't mean that she looks down condescendingly. She really can't help carrying her head so high, and it is nice to have folks around to look up to. Finding a place among the stars will not be so easy for some of her classmates, but she is kind-hearted and generous enough to lend a hand. She'll help you with most anything, but she loves mathematics best.

Perry Gray Balich

DENVER, NORTH CAROLINA

Varsity Track (1, 2, 3); Varsity Cross-Country (1, 2, 3, 4); Captain Cross-Country (3); Columbian Literary Society; "F" Club.

"P. G." goes in for distance. By the time others have made a good start, he has arrived. If he keeps on running as he has here, the sky is the limit. In his modest and unassuming way he has won the admiration of his classmates, and we all join in the applause as he crosses his last goal line at Duke.

Julian Parks Boyd

A X A, Φ B K, Σ Y, T K A

CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA

Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Sophomore and Junior Scholarships; Columbian Literary Society, Treasurer (3), Vice-President (4), President (4), Intersociety Debate (3), Trinity-North Carolina State Debate (4); Alternate Duke-Swarthmore Debate (4); Chronicle Board (3, 4), Chairman (4); Historical Society, Chairman Executive Committee (4), Vice-President (4); CHANCELEER Staff (4); Commencement Marshal (2), Chief Marshal (3); Delegate to Southern Association International Relations Clubs (3, 4); Assistant in English (3, 4); Assistant in Economics (4); 9019.

It would be easier to tell what Julian can't do than what he can. His talents find expression in activities ranging all the way from "shacking" to teaching political science. The above list tells the rest of the story.

William Gaston Bradshaw

A T Ω

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Hesperian Literary Society, Marshal (2); Class Football (1, 2), Captain (2); Varsity Football Squad (1, 2, 3, 4); Assistant Manager Track (1, 2, 3); Assistant Manager Wrestling (1, 2); Student Council (3), Secretary-Treasurer (3); Vice-President Men's Association (4); Commencement Marshal (1, 2); Chronicle Reporter (2), Associate Editor (3); Advisory Editor Archive (4); Hades Club; Durham High School Club; Tombs; Beta Omega Sigma.

"Duck" has the distinction of having more friends than anybody else in the class. Since his freshman year he has been actively engaged in campus activities, and has filled many offices. His genial disposition impresses itself upon all whom he meets. We wish he hadn't let up in his activities this year.

Furman Anderson Bridgers

K Σ, Φ B K, Σ Υ
WILSON, NORTH CAROLINA

Freshman Honors; Sophomore Scholarship; Dramatic Club; Public Lectures Committee (4); Assistant in Biology (2); Assistant in French (3); 9019.

Poet, artist, scholar, and linguist, Furman is one of our most versatile members. He has been known to make love in fluent French, and hobnobbing with professors is one of his favorite pastimes. With one trip to Europe already made, he is planning others, and rumor has it that he won't go alone.

Lemuel Lee Bridgers

CONWAY, SOUTH CAROLINA

Chemistry Club; Biology Club; Hesperian Literary Society; Sandfiddlers Club; Y. M. C. A.; Crowell Science Club; Class Track (1, 2); Glee Club (1).

If we should wait for Lee to tell us of his accomplishments, we probably shouldn't learn very much about him, for Lee isn't given to shouting from the housetops. If empty wagons do the most rattling, then his wagon must be pretty full. His expressions are in actions rather than words, and, when it comes to real worth, he is a safe bet.

Marou Foscue Brock

A X A

TRENTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Chemistry Club; Biology Club; Jones County Club, President (3); Y. M. C. A.; Crowell Science Club.

Foscue may be able to sway the multitudes with commanding eloquence, but he hasn't practiced it on any of us yet. He prefers to maintain a meditative silence that breaks forth only now and then in utterances that savor little of garrulity. But, when Foscue talks, he always says something that is worth hearing. To those who know him well, he is the kind of man whom everyone wants as a friend.

William Rolfe Brown

A X A, Φ B K, Σ T, T K A

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE

Class V.-Pres. (1); Public Lectures Comm. (2); Fresh. and Soph. Honors; Soph. and Jun. Scholarships; Glee Club (1, 2, 3, 4), Pres. (4); Classical Club; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (4); Ministerial Band; 9019; Red Friars; Hesperian Lit. Soc., Treas. (2), Sec. (3), Chaplain (3), Chr. Exec. Comm. (3), Pres. (4), Critic (4), General Debater's Medal (2), Intersociety Debate (2), Alt. (1), Emory-Trinity Debates (2, 3); Alt. New York University-Trinity and Swarthmore-Trinity Debates (2); Debate Council (4); Pan-Hellenic Council (4); Winner "Gorgo" International Essay Prize (2); Braxton Craven Medal (2); Exchange Editor Archive (3); Associate Editor CHANTICLEER (3), Editor-in-Chief (4); Representative to Greensboro "Go to College" Campaign (3); Delegate to National Conference of Methodist Students, Louisville (3); Assistant in Bible (3, 4).

We admire his ability, respect his wise counsel, and love his firm, clear-cut, principled character. We always know where Brown stands on a given question—and he usually stands on the right side.

Robert Augustus Burch, Jr.

A X A

ROXBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Hesperian Literary Society; "T" Club; Class Basketball (1, 2, 4); Class Football (2, 3); Assistant Manager Basketball (1, 2, 3); Assistant Manager Wrestling (3); Manager (4); Assistant Manager Chronicle (2, 3).

We've never decided whether it is "Bob's" winning ways or his handsome appearance that is so attractive to the gentler sex, but, whichever it is, the ladies seem to fall for him. It is a little too soon to decide whether he successfully weathered leap year or not, but we fear the worst. "Bob" was too modest to report any honors, and we had to go after them. Perhaps he forgot them—they say that it often has that effect.

Mary Louise Carlton

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Class Secretary-Treasurer (3); Junior Big Sisters, Vice-President; Town-Girl Representative, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3, 4); Glee Club (3, 4); Y. W. C. A.

"Beloved of all, to all a friend in need,

And loving, she is a friend indeed."

Mary Louise is a worthy member of '25. She is a good student, an ideal pal, and a faithful friend to all who are acquainted with her. She possesses marked musical talent, but usually has to be coaxed into singing "At Dawning." Nevertheless, she has a smile for everyone, and never an unkind thought. She is indeed a most excellent companion—ask "Joe!"

David William Carpenter

MAIDEN, NORTH CAROLINA

Catawba College (1, 2); Assistant in Physics (4).

Unfortunately, Carpenter was not a part of the family in the good old days when "Cap" Card and Caudill used to put us through the "monkey" paces in the Angier Duke gymnasium. He was getting a running start in Catawba College then in order to enter Trinity as an upperclassman, but he has been with us long enough for us to regard him as a valuable addition to the Class of 1925, and to regret that we didn't know him sooner.

Blanche Evelyn Carter

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

All of us are not fortunate enough to have known Evelyn during her years at the one-time Trinity College; all of us have not had the good fortune to count her friendship as ours, yet we who do know her count her quiet influence among us as one of the best things of our college life, and value her friendship as few other things we have acquired in these years.

Marnin Jefferson Carver

K A

ROUGEMONT, NORTH CAROLINA

"Doc" is one of those rare persons whom both men and women like. He is equally as popular on the dance floor as on the baseball diamond, in a bull feast, or at an afternoon tea. In addition to his skill as an athlete and charm in society, he is a scholar of note. He probably knows more English than most of those who have majored in Comp. One. An ardent believer in the Eighteenth Amendment, a product of Rougemont, and a true Southern gentleman, "Doc" cannot help but carve his "Carver" in the halls of fame.

Joseph Redington Chamberlain, Jr.

K A

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4); Band (1, 2, 3); Chemistry Club; Beta Omega Sigma; Iota Gamma Pi.

"Joe" came over from the capital city and has spent four years with us, elevating the scientific and musical life of the campus. "Joe" rooms in that stalwart old relic of bygone days, The Inn, officially known as Epworth Hall, and we confidently expect to see his name some day occupying a prominent place in the roster of the great ones who have tabernacled there.

George Vernon Chapman

MARION, NORTH CAROLINA

"Seab" is not given to ostentation. He has spent his four years among us giving his attention to the accomplishment of the immediate task before him, without spending any time in the pursuit of those ephemeral distinctions known as "goat feathers." He is the kind of man who recognizes the job before him and approaches it in such a way that success is assured.

Ida May Cheatham

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Y. W. C. A.

Ida May is another one of these town girls who has treated us cruelly, refusing to let us really know her. She is very quiet, and rather studious, for she is planning to be a teacher, and seems to realize that poise and a good education are a teacher's greatest assets. The Class of Twenty-five wishes you luck.

Ralph Raymond Chesson

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Iota Gamma Pi; Biology Club; Chemistry Club; Assistant in Chemistry; Assistant in Biology (2); Treasurer Biology Club (2, 3, 4); President Chemistry Club (3); Representative from Biology Club to Crowell Science Club (3).

The Crowell Science Hall has little left to offer Chesson. He didn't have to come far to get to Trinity, and, when he got here, he didn't have to go far to find what he wanted. When the Class of 1925 needs light on a scientific point, we'll page Chesson.

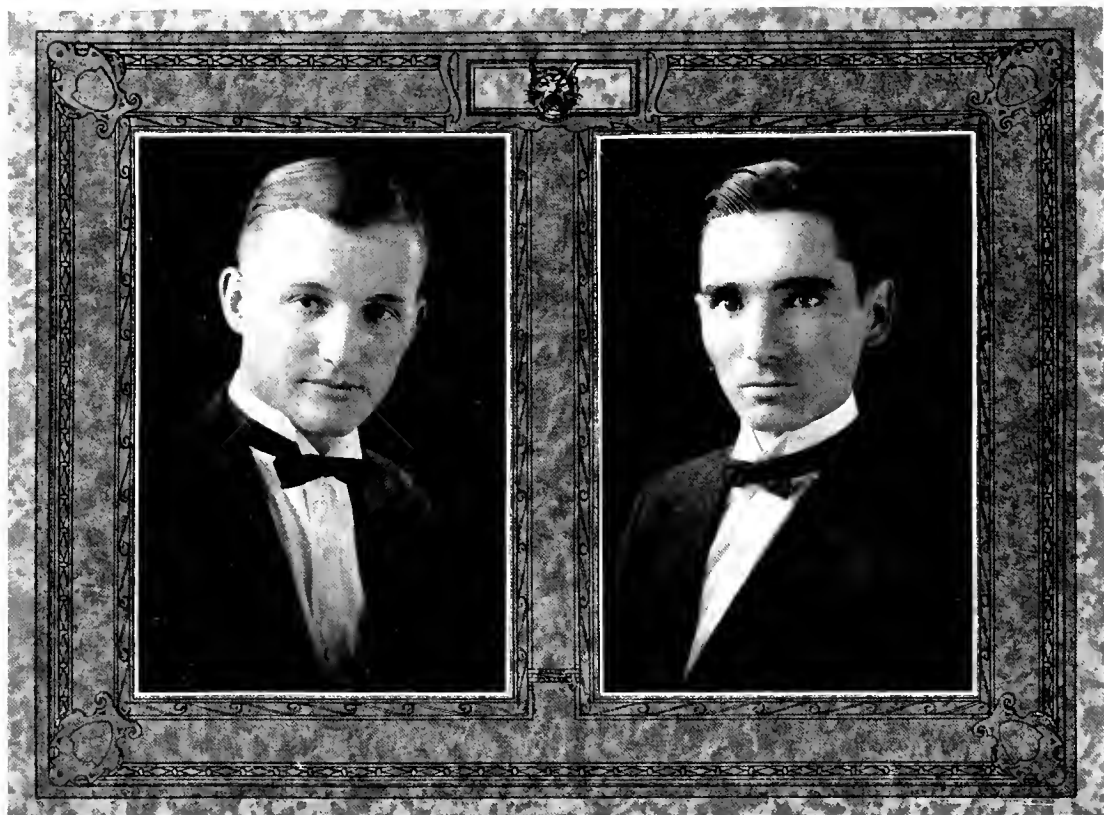

Jasper Leslie Clute

O. A. Φ

CLINTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Iota Gamma Pi; Cat's Head Club; Taurian Players; Physics Club; Student Member A. I. E. E.

Clute had a surprise in store for us. We had thought, until our senior year, that he was entirely engrossed in affairs of science to the exclusion of other things, but not so. He now steps forth as a Taurian, and still further strengthens his claim to distinction by being a charter member of that exclusive and mystic circle of literati known as the Cat's Head Club. In such men as Clute lies the strength of our class.

Dennis Hargrave Cooke

MAIDEN, NORTH CAROLINA

Band (1, 2); Hesperian Literary Society; Class Basketball (3, 4).

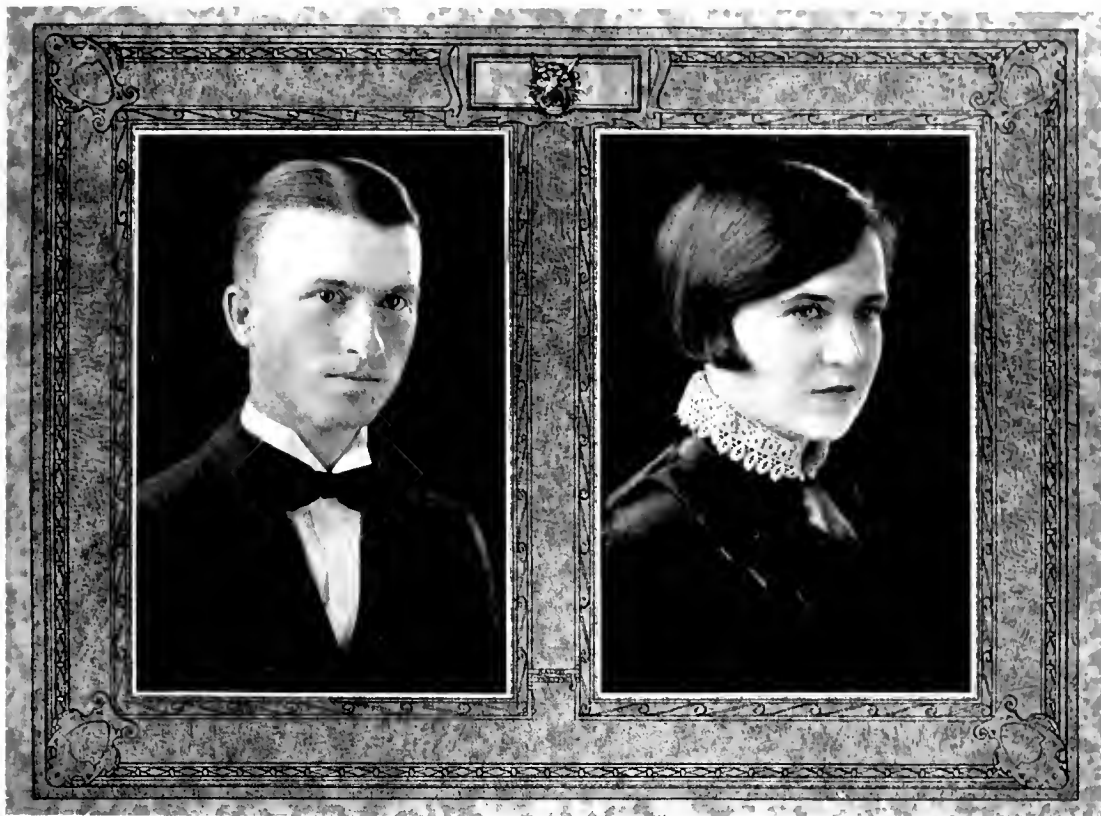

The four-year pace was too slow for Dennis. He toed the line along with the rest of us, but later he dropped out to give us a chance to catch up. Now he has returned to be with us at the finish. We welcome him back, not as a long-lost brother, for we never thought that he was lost, but as a charter member who returns to take his rightful place.

William Ernest Cooper

SCRANTON, SOUTH CAROLINA

Columbian Literary Society; Historical Society; Ministerial Band; Y. M. C. A.; Physics Club.

The smile that Cooper wears seems to be of the all-weather variety, for we never see him without it. Since he is an ecclesiast, we suppose that his benignant attitude indicates that he is working up attractive little homilies for future use. When the list of pulpit orators of the Class of 1925 is set down, we expect to see Cooper there among the shining lights.

Solon Russell Cotton

WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Everybody likes "Shorty," and, if there is a person anywhere who doesn't like him, it's because they don't know him. "Shorty" excels in harmonizing and in making bull sessions what they ought to be. He has been known to mimic rather effectively our beloved apostle of Woolley, but we doubt whether he has ever learned all of Woolley's paragraph numbers. If the boll weevil gets after Cotton, we'll stand by him to a man.

Gladys Virginia Cox

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Y. W. C. A.; Brooks Literary Society, Marshal (1); Guilford County Club; Historical Society.

Some people can do two things at once, but very few can do two things well at the same time. Gladys is one of the few, for she is teaching school, and is, by the way, a very efficient teacher, as well as taking her place as a senior at Duke University. Maybe her dignity helps a bit, but her charming personality and her pleasant manners surely count.

Elizabeth Jane Craddock

LENOIR, NORTH CAROLINA

Davenport College; Athena Literary Society; Parthenon Club, President.

Jane did not come to us until her junior year. Although she has been with us only a short time, we've learned to love her. To those who know her best, she is a true friend, ever ready to do something for the other fellow and forget herself. Back of her sunny disposition there is a steady burning desire to do her best, and she usually does it. We are sure she will make a success in life; we do not doubt her capability in the least.

We don't know whether "Shorty" is a poultry specialist or not, but he has been the man behind the scenes in producing the last two CHANTICLEERS. For two successive years the managers have found that, if there is anything to be done, and done right, "Shorty" is their best bet. Everything from collecting money to arranging the pages is in his line. If this volume proves to be a game cock of fine feather, our hats are off to "Shorty."

We wish "Buddy" had found time to mix more in campus affairs, for men of his type are always needed. Having taken up a science course in his sophomore year, he has been busy most of the time. In a few years those of us who are intimately acquainted with him expect to hear of his signal success in the medical profession.

Samuel Booth Crews

DAVENY, NORTH CAROLINA

Class Basketball (2, 3); Class Baseball (2, 3); Hesperian Literary Society; Class Football (3).

Crews is our all-round class athlete. He has represented us every year in every sport, whenever the lynxes sounded the war-cry (if that is the way lynxes do). His athletic honors also include a star position on Cap's "monkey" team. Crews is the type of man that can be depended upon in the classroom or on the field.

Frank Norfleet Cross, Jr.

SUNBURY, NORTH CAROLINA

"Fats" lends dignity and substance to the Class of '25. He hasn't won any races for us, but he is a record-breaker all the same. He is one of the most sought-after men on the campus, not only about initiation time, but at all times, for his friendly qualities have a very strong attraction. He furnishes a very strong backing for every form of athletics at Duke, attending all such contests, and he is an all-round good student.

Anna Lou is one of those girls so rare nowadays—quiet, observant, and interesting. "As calm and quiet as a summer Venetian night." It has been rumored that she has fallen victim to Cupid's wile—in fact, we can almost hear the wedding bells. She is very wise, for she speaks little and knows much. What higher tribute could be paid a woman?

Mildred Eloise Daniel

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Athena Literary Society; Junior Big Sisters; Y. W. C. A.; Class Basketball (3); Student Government Association.

Eloise's university life is just the beginning of the life of service for which she is preparing herself. Not many of us have had the pleasure of knowing Eloise the four years she has been with us, but those of us who do know her feel that she will succeed in the work that she has chosen, and that the Y. W. C. A. could have no better worker.

She may be called the "surprise girl," for she is always showing some new phase of her character. If Merle ever gets stuck, leave it to her to bluff her way out of it. She can't be downed. Beautiful, calm, and magnetic in personality.

John manifested such excellent administrative qualities in piloting us successfully through our junior year that we turned over to him the destinies of the "Greater Trinity Club." But John's greatest brilliance is on the diamond. Terror of the man at the bat, he swings a skillful left arm, and a long list of games won stand as telling evidence of his pitching ability.

Helma Deyton

GREEN MOUNTAIN, NORTH CAROLINA

Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Brooks Literary Society; Parthenon Club; Eko-I.

Helma is one of the students of whom Duke can ever be proud. She has made good grades—not by constant digging into books, but by her quick thinking and clever understanding. Not only has she made good friends with her studies, but also with the students, who find her lovable and sympathetic. Best of all, she has caught a vision of service and is preparing for work in foreign countries.

"Fertinand," who passes as from New Jersey whenever possible, believes that life will continue and that things will happen anyway—so why worry? (And he doesn't.) Some of the leading authorities of the campus give him an unusual amount of credit as a ladies' man. His looks, at any rate, give him a good send-off in this direction. Charley's bright lights really shine best in Professor Holton's Summer Schools, of several of which he is an outstanding alumnus. Friends of his who know him best are authority for the statement, "To know him is to know a man."

"A. W. D." might well mean "accurate with detail" in Alice's case. I'm sure you have never heard of her continuous questions ceasing before she knew all there was to be known of the subject in hand (Philosophy IV excepted!). But she measures her own accuracy by the same severe standards (please pardon another exception!) except when she finds an audience that can be lured to the enchanting recesses of Smith Island. The original Alice in Wonderland had no adventures that couldn't have happened there. But our Alice is an interesting Virginia girl, and we are glad that she came to Duke.

Because of her happy disposition, attractive personality, unselfishness, and sincerity, she means a great deal to all with whom she comes in contact, and proves a friend—real, true, and lasting. Idaleue wandered away to the University of Texas for her sophomore year, but she came back and won her place all over again. She is one of our strongest girls. He is a conscientious student, a cheerful friend, and a dependable man. "Dock" goes after his lessons with a vim, vigor, and vitality. He will win the game of life if he is given time to explain himself.

Morata Beatrice Harward

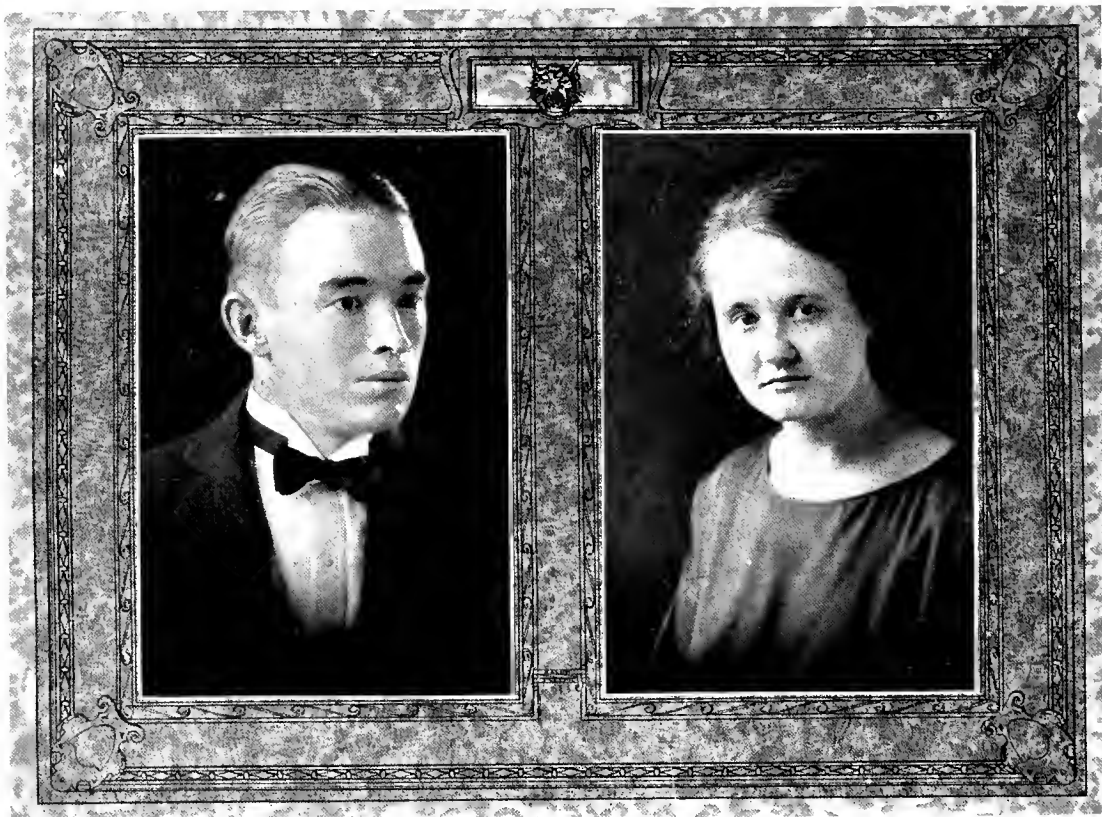

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Beatrice is another one of our town girls who has not thought it worth her while to come up on the campus and learn to know the rest of us. It has been rumored, though, that our loss has been the gain of one certain member of the class who claims Durham as his home. We have discovered, however, that Beatrice is a good student and an excellent friend.

Cullen Blackman Hatch

MOUNT OLIVE, NORTH CAROLINA

It has been reported that "Bard" Hatch's favorite sport is knocking "Bull" cold on his English and Shakespeare courses. When he is not on some mysterious trip with his chosen friends, he is either writing a short story or wild "poem" in his room, or walking to the cafeteria with his eyes to the ground as if in deep meditation. Cullen starred for his class in the interclass football series this year. If you have not heard Hatch tell of his expedition to the "great metropolis," the wilds of Panama, and the West Indies, you have missed a real treat.

Jessie has attained the success that many leaders lose. Her popularity has not waned in the least, but she is better known and loved by being associated with the students as an executive. She realizes that life is not all mirth, yet she has a genuine interest in student activities. She revels in the luxuries of literature and breathes back to the world the soul she finds in its depths. The poet must have had just such a person in mind when he said, Hesperian Literary Society; Chemistry Club; Class Basketball (3); Track-Cross-Country (1, 3, 4), Captain (4); Varsity Football (2).

Heffner is one of the men who have worked earnestly and steadily to develop that most important phase of athletics at Trinity—track. His work on the cinder path is symbolic of his whole college career. Seldom showing any spectacular bursts of speed, and seldom hanging up any brilliant record, Heffner has, nevertheless, shown that dogged persistence which inevitably makes the man ahead break the record. So it has been in other walks of college life. Those who sacrifice strength, depth, and steadiness for speed and brilliance have constantly found that they could not loaf on the job to stay ahead of Heffner. He is the kind of man who makes the class get ahead and stay ahead.

Henrietta Virginia Hicks

Y. W. C. A.; Brooks Literary Society; Glee Club; Junior Big Sisters, Secretary (3); Delta Phi Rho Alpha.

We'll always remember Virginia for the vivacity and pep that she kept going strong throughout her four years. She loves everything pertaining to athletics, and firmly adheres to the old adage that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Virginia has been a true friend and a jolly pal. We should predict a career for her were it not for those bewitching eyes, that are likely to play havoc with some man's heart. Indeed, we hear that they have already made a conquest at Watts Hospital.

Hix is a man who is always in his right place and can be depended upon every time. His number of friends increases with his stay on the campus.

Columbian Literary Society; Ministerial Band.

Of all the men in the class, the one to whom the most honor is due is Fred Kiker. Laboring under difficulties that would cause most men to surrender at the beginning, Fred has stuck by his guns and has overcome his handicap by making an excellent record during the full four years of his course. Not only has he done his work well, but he has also won the friendship and admiration of the whole class. PEN HOOK, VIRGINIA

Iota Gamma Pi; Chemistry Club; Crowell Scientific Society; Assistant in Chemistry; Commencement Marshal (3); Columbian Literary Society.

There are two "Laps" on the campus—only two—and Lloyd is the other one. If it were not for the fact that the original "Lap" of the community is inimitable, we might try to find points of similarity between the two. But, even without the influence of his kinship to his distinguished brother (or, should we say, in spite of that influence?) he has found a place of deep affection among us.

Herbert Donald Lassiter

WOODLAND, NORTH CAROLINA

Class Baseball (1, 2); Class Track (1, 2); Class Basketball (1); Y. M. C. A.; Folklore Society.

With two or three habitual comrades, Lassiter may be seen at all circuses theaters, athletic events—including those colorful football games in Haiti—and other places of amusement about town. This bird takes his time, and rarely seems to be in a hurry, yet he never misses a trick. His graveyard buddies are Crews, Lawrence, and a few others of that ilk who have affinities in common for hardboy basketball, midnight wienies "mit," and all other such invigorating excuses. But for all this, Lassiter has not deprived the class of his worth-while, steady-going, dependable company.

Marquis Wood Lawrence

NEW BERN, NORTH CAROLINA

Freshman Honors; Hesperian Literary Society, Secretary (3), Auditor (4), Chaplain (4), Vice-President (4), President (4), Hugh Lyon Carr Orator's Medal (3); College Marshal (3); Commencement Marshal (2); Chief Manager (3); Ministerial Band, Treasurer (2), Chairman Program Committee (3), President (4); Class Basketball; Class Football; Classical Club; Y. M. C. A.

Lawrence is a leader in many fields. His work in the literary society has been outstanding, and he has taken a prominent place in the religious activities of the campus. The Class of 1925 is proud to include among its number men of such solid worth as Lawrence.

PRINCETON, NORTH CAROLINA

Louisburg College (1, 2); Women's Student Government Council (3, 4); Y. W. C. A., President (4); Student Industrial Commission (4); Council of Religious Interests, Secretary (4); Delta Phi Rho Alpha; Brooks Literary Society; The Faurians.

Although Margaret is president of our "Y," she is one of the most mischievous girls in school. If someone jerks your tie undone or pulls your hairpins out, just know Margaret is near. But her pranks are only a bubbling over of a spirit alive with the sheer joy of living—a joyousness that bespeaks for her the eternal youth of Peter Pan. But she will never dwell in the "Never-Never Land," for her vision of service holds her with weary mortals. Continue to carry the sunshine, Margaret, and may there be only "sufficient cloud to make a glorious sunset."

Willis Johnston Liles

LITTLEFION, NORTH CAROLINA

Trinity Park School; Trinity Park Club; Hesperian Literary Society; Musical Clubs; Band; Y. M. C. A.

Here is a man who wastes few words, attends to his own business, enjoys life and his associations in college, and does not worry over what the future may hold for him. He was not even disturbed when he found that Mason's Ec. VIII was not a crip—and he didn't go into rhapsodies when he passed it. That's Liles' way. He takes life as it comes, and lets it go as it will. But he has a mind of his own, and there are many things we should rather do than try to shake him loose from some pet conviction of his.

Any man who has the ability to manage a publication, especially a weekly one, and at the same time to wear a perpetual smile on his face, deserves the highest commendation. "Bob" stays in a good humor in rain or shine. When, in the wee small hours of the night, we see a green light on the second floor of East Duke, we know that "Bob" is hard at it. He is one of the really valuable members of the class.

Mildred Edna Ruth Lunsford

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Durham High School Club; Junior Big Sisters.

Dark-eyed and trusting, like her Biblical sister, Ruth has lived among us the four years of her university life. Yet the little things count most in the long run, and Ruth has made her own place among us, which none could fill so well as she has filled. When Ruth goes out into the world, may she find contentment as she has found it here.

Alene Elizabeth McCall

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Brooks Literary Society, Secretary (3); Delta Phi Rho Alpha; Y. W. C. A.

One of those happy mortals with indifference as her chief charm. She fascinates us with her dual personality, as sober as a judge in company, and utterly and delightfully foolish if you happen to be the chosen one. She has a knack of making us all like her, even though she frequently has an opinion contrary to ours.

Robert Eugene McDade

HILLSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Trinity Park School; Biology Club; Chemistry Club.

McDade is an historical asset to the class of the lynx. He was hanging around the old stamping ground while most of us were saving our senior orations and having our final exams in the various high schools of the state. Like Mahomet and the mountain, he beckoned to the science department to come to him, and behold! the science department now holds forth on the very spot where the modern Mahomet stood. A man of such imposing characteristics merits, and receives, the respect of the Class of Twenty-five.

Addie Reade McDonald

LILLINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Brooks Literary Society; Y. W. C. A., Finance Committee (2); Junior Big Sisters.

Addie's quiet personality has charmed all of us and won our complete confidence. Her service to those around her will never be that of a philanthropist, but that of the "little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love." But look out for the imps in her eyes! When they are there, there is action. The most remarkable thing about Addie is her power of quick decision, be the thing in question a college course, a hat, or her life work. The business world holds her place in life, and she will give it her best.

Zilpha Mary McGranahan

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Durham High School Club; Junior Big Sisters.

Small, dark, vivacious, loquacious, and very attractive! These adjectives describe Zilpha better than any others. Zilpha is a mighty fine girl, and she is one of the truest friends that a person ever had. It can truly be said of her that "none knew her but to love her!"

Clifton Hix McGregor

LAURENBERG, NORTH CAROLINA

Columbian Literary Society; Folklore Society; Dramatic Club; Class Basketball (2, 3, 4); Class Baseball (2, 3, 4); Class Football (3).

"Mack" has a habit of going home—we presume it is home—on week-ends and forgetting to come back until about mid week. We don't blame him a bit. We should do the same thing if we had the same attraction. We have a notion that he won't make a very good alumnus for the Bachelors' Club, but that doesn't lessen our esteem for him in any sense. "Mack" enjoys his hard-boiled basketball, class football, and, withal, stands well in his classes. "Mack" is a man we like to have around; he does things that need to be done without making any noise about it.

Louise Helen Markham

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Durham High School Club; Athena Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Women's Student Government Association.

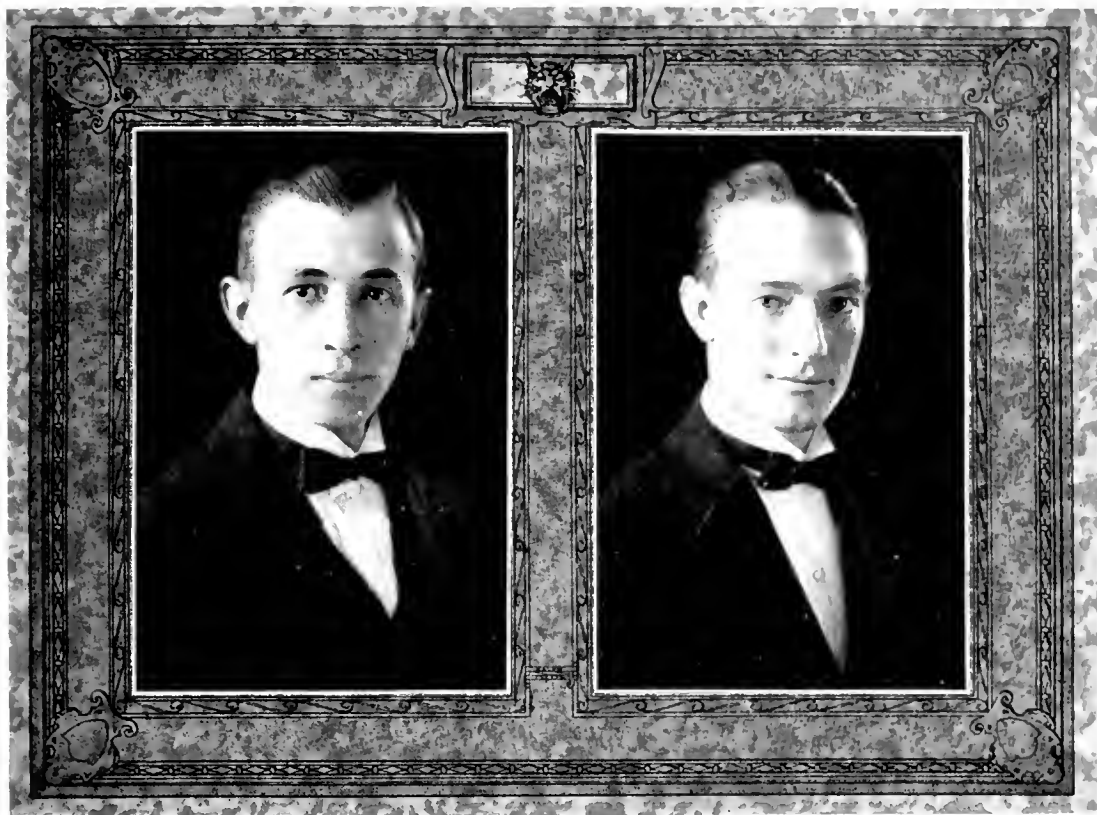

Louise is a sweet-looking little blonde whom many of us have seen, because she walked in front of us, but none of us has heard her, for she is so quiet. She, too, is a town girl, and a mighty fine one, at that, being a student, a pal, and a very true friend. Best wishes, Louise, from the Class of Twenty-five.

Robert Bruce Martin

GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Columbian Literary Society, Secretary (2), Business Committee (2), Treasurer (3), Chairman Executive Committee (3), President (4); Y. M. C. A.; Rutherford College Club; Dramatic Club, Cast "If I Were King" (2); Glee Club; Alternate Davidson-Trinity Debate; Member-at-Large for Senior Class.

Martin is at his best in the Columbian Literary Society hall, where he once wielded the gavel, and at the local Republican headquarters. Martin, with the able assistance of his room-mate, carried his room for Coolidge, and he still believes that Calvin Coolidge is the one best bet for the American people. We expect to see Martin at the helm of state some day, and we believe that there he will conduct himself with the same fine spirit that he has shown among us here.

Vernon Claudius Mason, Jr.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Columbian Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Sand-fiddlers Club; Ministerial Band; Managerial Staff of Archive (2, 3); Folklore Society.

Mason is one of the pillars of Columbia and of the ministerial band—which, of course, in no sense implies any degree of similitude between the two organizations. Capable, trustworthy, self-reliant, he is a worthy member of our class, and we are glad to count him a friend. We have never seen him at the Orpheum, but he manifests the true Duke spirit by appearing enthusiastically at all athletic contests, debates, dramatic performances, etc. Mason is small of stature, but he has a heart as big as all outdoors. He has that rare gift of smiling cheerfully and the rarer gift of smiling continuously.

Charles Thomas Mearham, Jr.

KINSTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Iota Gamma Pi; Lambda Phi Gamma; Manager of Band; Glee Club; Orchestra; Saxophone Quartette; Hesperian Literary Society; Biology Club; Chemistry Club; Crowell Scientific Club; Physics Club; Folklore Society; Y. M. C. A.; Swimming Team (3, 4); Wrestling Squad (2, 3); Red Cross Life Saving Corps.

When "Charlie" ties on to the right end of a saxophone, he is happy, whatever the other inhabitants of the campus may think about it. He really understands what saxophones were made for, and one is almost convinced after hearing his demonstration. He is most resplendent when on the Glee Club trips, and especially immediately following the performances. A glance at "Charlie's" list of honors shows that he is accomplished in other things as well as music.

James Samuel Merritt

ROXBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Columbian Literary Society; Person County Club; Class Basketball (1, 2, 3); Class Football; Varsity Wrestling Squad (1, 2, 3, 4).

"Sam" Merritt isn't the handsomest man in the class by a long shot, and he admits it, but without doubt he is a man of merit. Besides the fact that he is from Person County, he has several other honors which he has achieved by hard work. He is one of Coach Bailey's invincibles on the wrestling mat, and our class basketball and football teams would have suffered much if it had not been for "Sam." We expect many things of "Sam" in the future, knowing, as we do, that the world, as we did, will overlook his lack of pulchritude and will look for the real merit of him.

John's name hasn't any reference to his ability, for he does things in a big way. He is one of the wrestling stalwarts, and always lets his man know that something is happening. John hails from the coast, and the sound of the surf is in his voice. Perhaps John can tell you "who!" "Oi" can't. John is anything but a midget in our regard for him.

Thomas Frank Moore

Glee Club (1, 3, 4); Class Basketball; Biology Club; Chemistry Club.

When it comes to "sheiking," Frank is a past master. When he gets out on a Glee Club trip, the hearts lie scattered in his wake. He always leaves his ukelele at home, for the combination of it with his melodious bass voice would be irresistible, and, after all, Frank is kind-hearted. His odd moments are spent in the science hall in preparing himself to annihilate the ills of mankind. We hope that he will succeed.

Mary Morris

DERHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Athena Literary Society; Class Basketball (3); Junior Big Sisters; Women's Student Government Association.

Mary is one of our town girls who has had very little to do with us except in our actual work, preferring to lend her charms to a certain Baptist institution in the state of which some of us have heard quite a bit. In spite of this, however, we have found that Mary is a mighty fine girl, and those of us who know her love her dearly.

M. C. A.; 9019; Dramatic Club; Cast of "Cyrano de Bergerac" (4); Physics Club; Bachelors Club.

Quincy went in for scholarship as soon as he arrived, and he has held to his original high standards all the way through. At the same time he has found time to become a power in literary society work. He doesn't make a great deal of noise, but he is always doing something.

Ida began her college career at N. C. C. W., but soon found that she belonged at Duke. Perhaps it was because Durham is nearer Chapel Hill—anyway, she entered the Class of '25 as a sophomore, and the class is truly fortunate. Ida is one of those rare persons in whom is combined charm and brains; all will admit that she is "fair to look upon"—and is she not one of the chosen few in Phi Beta Kappa? To those who know her, she is a true friend, a person whom few are privileged to know intimately, but whose true value is realized by those few.

Annie Murnick

Φ B K

Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Eko-L, Vice-President (4).

Annie is one of the finest girls in the Class of '25. She is one of the few Phi Beta Kappas in the class, which proves that she is an excellent student. Besides this, she is very witty and attractive. She is planning to teach school, but we are willing to bet she'll soon change. However, whatever you do, Annie, we are for you!

Genevieve Helen Myers

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Chemistry Club; Natural History Club, Secretary-Treasurer (3), President (4); Brooks Literary Society; Durham High School Club.

Here is a girl who is a happy combination of seriousness and fun. She is not exceedingly studious, but spends most of her time at the science hall. (However, we aren't sure that science is the only attraction.) Nevertheless, she claims that "bugology" is her chief interest in life, and we feel sure that in the not far distant future we shall be proud to say, "Here is one of our number, a scientist of note." Our wishes for Genevieve are that she may live long—despite her scientific tendencies—keep her present attractiveness, get what she wants, and like what she gets.

Edgar Harrison Nease

GIBSONVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Columbian Literary Society; Rutherford College Club; Y. M. C. A.; Ministerial Band.

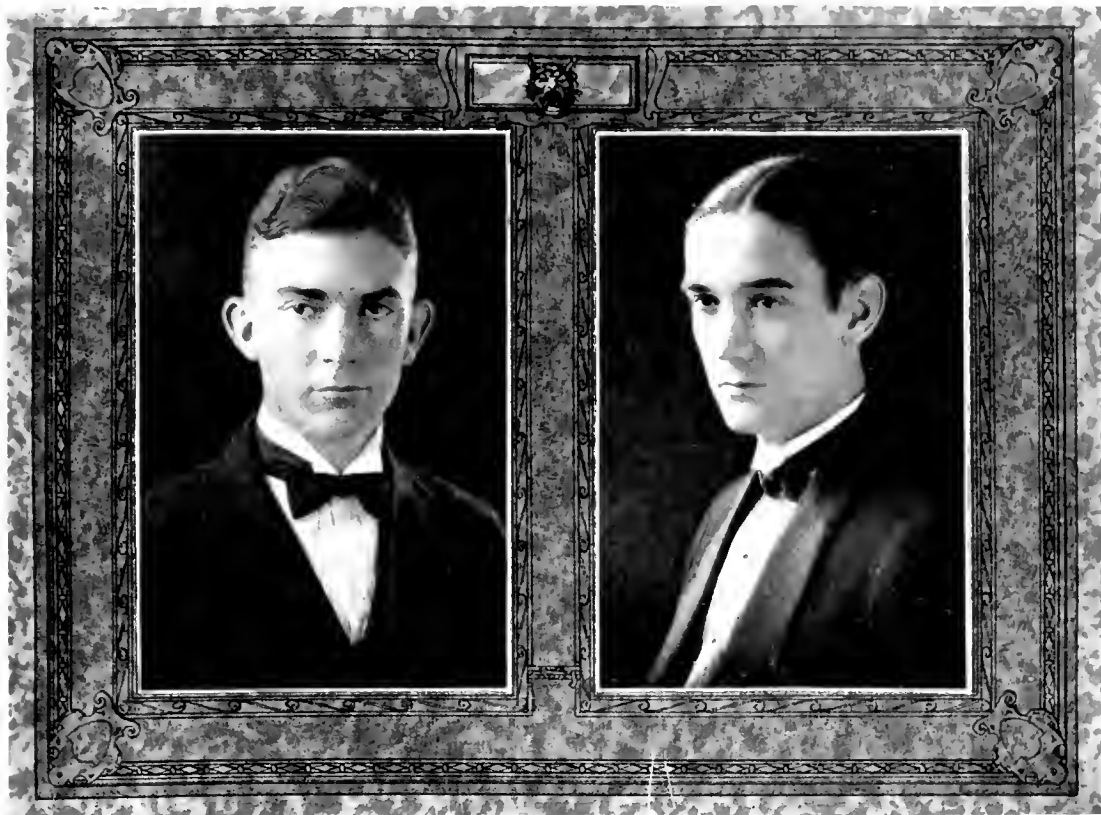

Not everyone gets to know Nease intimately, but those who do find in him a true friend. He is one of those fellows who can hold a pastorate and at the same time make high grades in the university. A rather quiet fellow, most people would say, but never so occupied with his work that he would not respond to an invitation to play tennis or to join in good-natured jests with his fellow students. We wish that we might have known Nease better, for in our contact with him we have found him to be in every respect a true Christian gentleman.

Lucy Thompson Nichols

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Student Government Association; Y. W. C. A., Social Service Committee; Junior Big Sisters; Athena Literary Society.

Lucy is very quiet until she be-"Gims" to think of Chapel Hill or recalls "Just David," and then she can rave as long as any of the rest of us. We can't imagine such a good-natured person having enemies, but someone certainly played a wicked prank one night. She'll find some way to turn the joke, but she hasn't let it disturb her calm frame of mind. Persistent effort and perseverance will carry her through to the fulfillment of her every ambition.

David Riley Noland

WAYNESVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Rutherford College (1); Rutherford College Club; Hesperian Literary Society; Iota Gamma Pi.

David came down to us from the mountains. He stopped on the way and avoided being a freshman here by taking his first year's work at Rutherford College. He must have heard about the Annie Roney Fountain. During his three years with us we have learned to like him and to regard him as a friend, a conscientious student, and one of the strong members of our class.

James Milton Oliver

Σ Φ Ε

ORANGEBURG, SOUTH CAROLINA

University of South Carolina (1); South Carolina Club; Glee Club (2, 4); Y. M. C. A.

The most brilliant member of the class is "Jim," especially when the sun is shining. The oleaginous appearance of "Jim's" locks (even to the lowest extremity of his sideburns) makes him a marked man wherever he goes, and the ladies simply can't resist his attractiveness—to the great envy of the other gentlemen members of the class. But we like "Jim," even though he does cut us out with the girls.

Bynum Darosta Orr

Bynum falls into two classifications. He belongs to those of a scientific turn of mind, whose activities center around the up-to-date brick building just in front of the boiler room, and he also is a member of that distinct type of students with managerial proclivities. We expect him to be a big business executive some day.

Behold the man! Our first president (the George Washington of the class, as it were) and, contrary to the general rule of freshman presidents, he is still with us and still looking as important as when he wielded the gavel. The cares of life have rendered him almost independent of tonsorial attention, but he wears the kind of smile that is catching, and we hail him as a good friend.

Fidelia Moore Overton

ROCKY MOUNT, NORTH CAROLINA

N. C. C. W.; Y. W. C. A.; Student Government Association, Social Standard Committee (3, 4); Athena Literary Society, Marshal (3), Secretary (4); Junior Big Sisters Association.

Fidelia is easy-going—deliberate in her way. She is the kind of girl we can count on any day, and is bright and attractive through it all. Although her modesty causes her to keep her worth under cover, everyone knows that it's there, and loves her. Through this camouflage of a quiet, exclusive manner, the real individual always shines.

"Red Oak" and "Dog Head" are the names by which he is known. The first came to him as a result of his star performance on Red Oak's famous championship ball club of 1921. The other was acquired for a reason that the CHANCELLER does not know. On the Duke cinder path he has been a consistent and hard worker. The science buildings have been his favorite haunts during class hours. Medicine is his calling, and, sticking to it as he has at Duke, he will surely make the medical world sit up and take notice in due time.

"Charlie" combines the qualities of a Beau Brummel and a calculating business man. If he isn't parked under some tree on the campus whispering sweet nothings to a fair one, he is on Main Street driving a hard bargain with an advertiser. If it is a misfortune to be handsome, then "Charlie" is the most wretched of men. But he seems to endure the burden fairly well.

Matthew Vance Pendergrass

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Pendergrass is a Durham youth, and it is doubtless for this reason that we have been deprived so much of his company. Nevertheless, when an important athletic event is on hand, or if there is anything doing, or about to be done, you can count on seeing Pendergrass right in the middle of everything, rooting like thunder and otherwise assisting in making that indispensable thing called college spirit. Pendergrass is one of the cogs in the machinery that provides such a spirit; omit one cog, and you have a wrecked machine.

Edward Lindsey Phillips

WEST DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

West Durham High School Club; Class Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Class Track (1, 2, 3, 4).

Phillips lives in West Durham, and we haven't become so well acquainted with him as we might have if he had been living on the campus with us. He has found time, though, to come over and represent the lynxes in class athletics, and, when the catcalls are sounded for those members of the class who have done something for her, Phillips will come in for his share of praise.

The picture that we are reproducing above might cause one to think that Marshall is a hard boy, but he isn't in spite of the fact that he is a member in good standing of the Hades Club. If there is a man on the campus who doesn't like Marshall, we haven't found him, and we don't believe there is one, for Marshall abounds in those qualities that make us all like him.

"Roses in her cheeks and dewdrops in her eyes" bespeak her beauty; knowledge in her mind and virtue in her actions make her good; love in her heart and sincerity in her words reveal her truth. Her life is one of music, which flows in harmony with everything that's beautiful and good and true. Quick to sympathize, slow to judge, she never thinks ill of anyone—could we have aught but praises for her?

Curtis Price

MONROE, NORTH CAROLINA

Felon College (1, 2).

Price is the kind of man who gives the lie to the statement about one who knows the Price of everything but the value of nothing. For here is one who keeps silent about the question of Price in this little proposition called Life, and who at the same time shows that he knows very definitely the value of things. Price is a chap who goes and comes about the campus much in the same manner as Prexy Few—dignified, sober, gentlemanly in bearing, and entirely unassuming. In one thing, however, does Price differ from Prexy, and that is in his facial adornment. We have hopes for Price, however—hopes that he will always know what razors are made for.

Anne Bailey Battledge

ADVANCE, NORTH CAROLINA

Dramatic Club; Y. W. C. A.; Athena Literary Society.

"Sweet personality, full of rascality." That is Anne. There is an old saying that "blue eyes just naturally ask for love—and get it." Whether it's Anne's big blue eyes or something else, we do not know, but it is true that every girl on the campus has a warm spot in her heart for Anne. She has been accused of having the kindest heart of anyone in school, and this is not to be disputed. There is never a time that she isn't ready for fun, even if she be waked up in the middle of the night to join in it. Her charming manner makes her so sweet and lovable that "none knew her but to love her."

Hazel Fern Reeves

VOILEY, VIRGINIA

Sophomore Honors; Junior Scholarship; Eko-L; W. S. G. A.; Y. W. C. A.

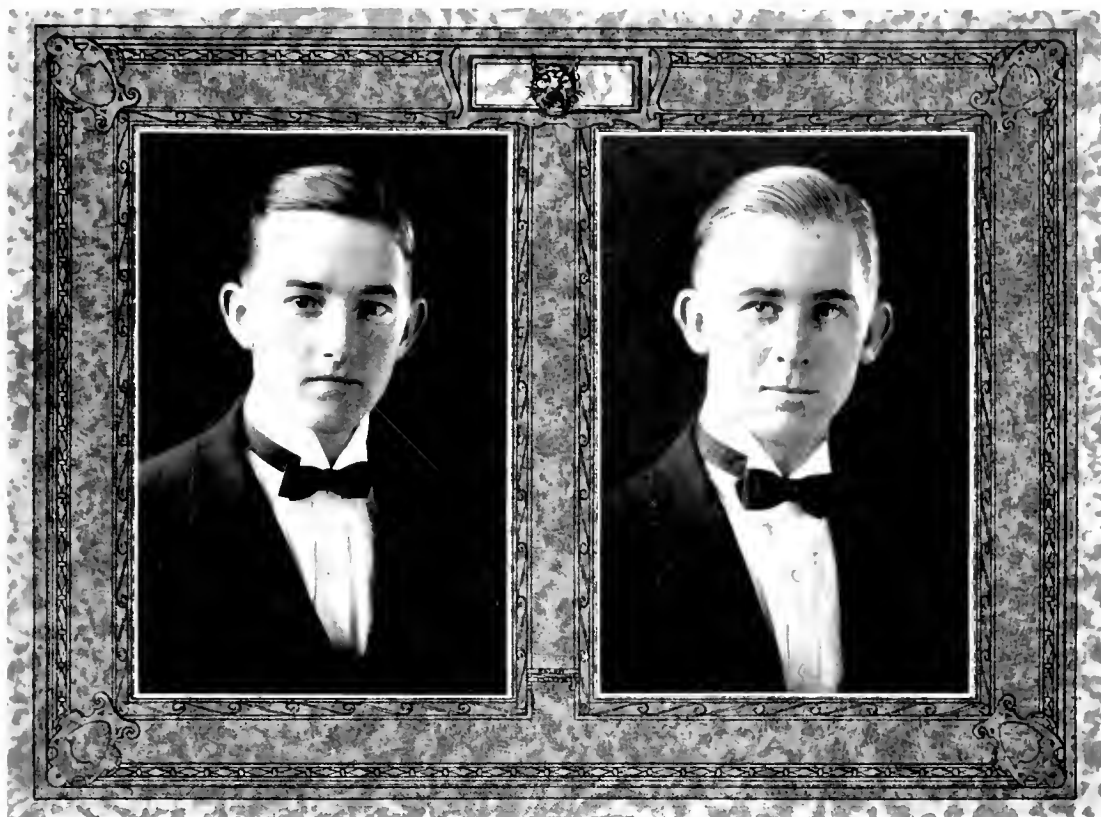

Look at the girl with the French doll mouth, demure eyes of brown, and jet-black hair. One might mistake her for a coquette, but she isn't. She is the embodiment of dignity, poise, and modesty, and possesses that silence that bespeaks wisdom. Truly it may be said of her, "Still water runs deep."

Mabel Kathryn Ripley

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Women's Student Government Association; Junior Big Sisters; Durham High School Club.

Many of us have seen this sweet-looking little auburn-haired girl going quietly about the campus tending to her own business, and asked who she was. She is no other than our very dear Mabel, who has rejoined our class after being out for one year. Mabel is an excellent student as well as one of the best friends a person ever had. We predict great things for her.

James Edward Roberts

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Town students hold a special place in the student body of Duke, and Roberts is an outstanding character in this class of students. In a way we envy Roberts; we envy anyone who can enjoy college life and home life at the same time; yet, even as we envy him, we feel that both he and the class are missing something by the fact that he enjoys such a position, for he is missing some of the essentials of college life by not being with us more of the time, and we are deprived of the very definite contribution that his presence would make to us.

Gordon Wrege Roebuck

STOKES, NORTH CAROLINA

He was never a ladies' man. But among the boys he has a multitude of friends. Since the time Herbert Smith, E. P. Gibson, and Roebuck organized the order of the "Sons of Rest," Gordon has kept well within the spirit of the organization, but his grades do not seem to suffer as a consequence. The familiar voice of "Eats" Cross crying out in the night for Roebuck to come over and "bull" with him, always enlisted Roebuck's sympathies. "Eats" never felt that he could pass a quiz until Roebuck had expressed his sentiments on the subject.

With the name that he carries, Spurgeon could hardly be anything else but a preacher. But even without the advantage of the name, Spurgeon would make a success in that calling, for he possesses those qualities of pleasing personality that a preacher needs. We've always liked to be with Spurgeon, for the twinkle in his eye puts us in just the right humor. We shall hear great things from him later on.

Etta Saunders

TROY, NORTH CAROLINA

Student Government Association; Junior Big Sisters.

"Happy am I; from care I'm free;

Why aren't all contented like me?"

This motto of Etta's explains her ability to make friends wherever she goes. From the number of her admirers one might accuse her of being fickle, but on really knowing her, one finds her a loyal friend and cheery companion. Just to break the monotony of college life, Etta occasionally rides around town or enjoys a series of serenades. She has been known to say, "Don't," "Quit," and "Just 'cause," but we won't tell anyone just because we might guess wrong.

Lucie Erminie Sawyer

"Tom," like her namesake, the youth of Mark Twain's fancy, has enjoyed her college holiday in the same spirit in which Huck and Tom went fishing. Don't suppose from this that she isn't capable in other ways. Responsibilities (even looking after a young sister) leave no furrows in her young brow, and she can be depended upon for her share of good work as well as fun.

Though Louise just naturally attained her place among the stars, she would never be content to dwell with "mere man." Occasionally she surprises us, though—fascinates us with her dual personality—as sober as a judge in company and utterly and delightfully foolish if you happen to be the chosen one. Not content with all the history courses on the campus, she'll probably make one of her own for the new Southgate College.

The privilege of standing behind the little post office window in the basement of Jarvis has come to only a few fortunate souls. "Cop" is one of those. It takes a rare combination of patience and good humor to dispense stamps and mail to expectant college men, but, withal, the P. M. did the job to the satisfaction of everyone, never allowing his good nature to become ruffled. His highest ambition is to become a "blue-coat," but at present the policeman is very much involved with pre-med, and we feel sure that he will always be found as worthy as Uncle Sam found him in whatever he undertakes to do.

Who does not envy the one man on the campus who sits on the tripod and is master of that subtle force known as the press? Frank hasn't made our lives miserable by dashing "campus chatter" into our teeth, nor has he indulged in dubbing himself "ye olde editor." For this we thank him, and also for the interesting chronicle of events that he has offered us each week and the timely and helpful editorials.

Virginia Clay Smith

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Durham High School Club; Brooks Literary Society.

Black, curly hair, sparkling brown eyes (I nearly said black, for that is the impression they give one), and a cheery smile—these describe and explain Virginia—describe her looks and explain the havoc she has worked with the hearts of certain male members of the college community during the past four years. However, this is not fair to Virginia, for she has also found time to make good grades and many staunch friends among the girls.

Annie May Surrell

Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Girls' Glee Club; Eko-L.

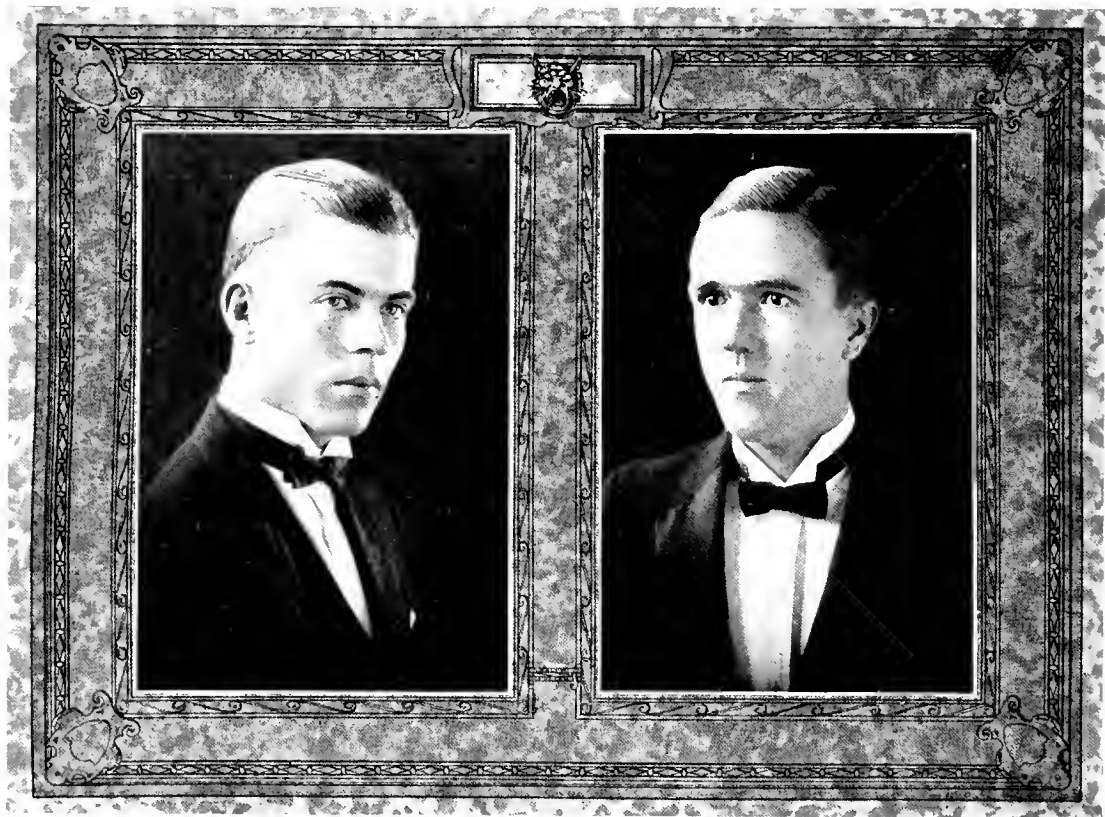

Probably very few people in the class know Juanita, for she is a town girl and has gone about her college work in a quiet, thorough way. Besides making Phi Beta Kappa, Juanita has found time to take music until now she is almost the best pianist on the campus, but, being of a retiring nature, she has never displayed her talent for our benefit.

Norman Leroy Stack

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Columbian Literary Society; Sandfiddlers Club; Y. M. C. A.; Hades Club; Folklore Society.

Here is a man whose activities about the campus, in the classroom, in the library, and among his fellow students prove the truth of the statement that "Knowledge is proud that he knows so much; Wisdom is humble that he knows no more." A man who sticks to this attitude will inevitably find out by experience that, though the bottom of the ladder may be crowded, and though the rungs may be kicked out, yet there is plenty of room at the top. Some day we shall look confidently to the top to see Stack stacking up honors.

Erwin Duke Stephens

LILLINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Kittenfish Club.

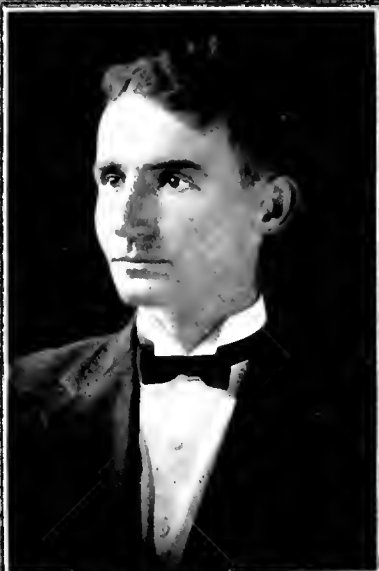

Here is a man of no small amount of personal courage. "Audacity, audacity, and still more audacity!" cried Danton. And Stephens proclaims the fact that he is from Lillington and in the same breath claims the honor of being a member of that mysterious organization known as the Kittenfish Club. But, for all that, Stephens is a true, dyed-in-the-wool member of the Class of '25, and it is because of men like him that we approach the exercises around the Flag Pole with reluctance.

William Paul Stephens

SEMORA, NORTH CAROLINA

Varsity Track (3); Columbian Literary Society; Cross-Country Team (2); Chemistry Club; Biology Club; Crowell Science Club; Assistant Manager Dope Shop.

Stephens can vivisect a cat and mix a dope with the same phlegmatic cheerfulness (not simultaneously, of course). Steve has evidently learned a lot about human nature from his little sanctum behind the counter at the dope shop. "Two dopes, Steve," "Shake, Steve," never disturbs him, no matter how numerous those are who have slept through breakfast and eight-thirties. Stephens is one of those men of the class of whom there are altogether too few. He keeps his head and does the work he has to do when he has to do it, and pre-med students have a lot to do. Stephens leaves it to the other fellow to make the noise.

Theodore Elias Stough

CONCORD, NORTH CAROLINA

Columbian Literary Society.

"Teddy" has been with us only two years, having taken the first half of his work at Rutherford. He is energetic and studious and has found a place of popularity among his fellow students. "Teddy" is destined to become a leader wherever he goes, for his personality has won and will win for him many lasting friends. He goes from us to teach, but we have been told that he will not go single-handed.

Isaac Wade Straughn

SILER CITY, NORTH CAROLINA

Chatham County Club; Columbian Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.

We wonder if a freshman ever overcomes his awe for a sophomore. Straughn was a sophomore when the rest of us entered, and we still have visions of the Anne Roncy Fountain and of paddles when we see him. He dropped out for a year, though, and then came back to become one of the telines. Straughn is an industrious and able student, and we have a notion that his "shacking" is carried on with the same enthusiasm as his studies.

SUMTER, SOUTH CAROLINA

Student Council Proctor (2), Junior Representative (3); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3); Dramatic Club (3, 4); Athena Literary Society Treasurer (3); Glee Club (3, 4).

"Kitty" is the sort of girl who, one instinctively knows, does things—puts them across in fine style, too. She is our star stunt manufacturer, and then has pep enough left to make the stunts go big. Ever hear her in a Senior Class meeting? Or in Student Council? Or in Pan-Hellenic? Pep? Well, I should say so! Always a jolly good sport—and it is glad we are that she came back this spring to be with the '25s!

James Wilson Swaringen

ALBEMARLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Y. M. C. A.; Ministerial Band; Columbian Literary Society; Varsity Tennis (2); Tennis Team (1, 2, 3); "T" Club.

We never learned really to appreciate "Jim" until we saw the way in which his membership in the F. B. C. Beavers Club brought him out. That red hirsute adornment of his would secure for him easy access into the governing councils of the Bolsheviki. "Jim" is an eloquent argument against the contention that ministerial students do not mix with their fellow men and take interest in campus activities.

Emerson is the business genius behind this volume. We shouldn't accuse "Em" of being mercenary, but we'd wager that, when "Em" goes home, every Jew in Maxton shines up his show window. When "Em" isn't soliciting ads or collecting money, he is at the science hall learning how to be a doctor. Some of these days he may be feeding us pills—and sending us bills.

HAMLET, NORTH CAROLINA

Pan-Hellenic Council; Social Committee of Student Government.

Agnes Scott claimed Lillian for a while, but she found her way here as a junior in the fall of twenty-three. In spite of becoming instantly popular on both sides of the campus, she found time to study enough to please the profs and to make good grades. Carefree usually, dignified occasionally, indignant when necessary, charming always—"airy, fairy Lillian."

Heber Olney Tucker

WHITEAKERS, NORTH CAROLINA

Meet Dr. Kling, the renowned psychiatrist, who was deemed a competent witness in a famous case involving the question of sanity by the Sigma Nu Phi members of the legal profession. In actual life Tucker aspires to be a physician, and is already a certified and practicing pharmacist. With all his courses in science, Tucker is graduating in three years. On account of his work, Tucker has not been able to mingle with the boys very much, but he has, nevertheless, made a host of friends during his three years' stay.

Aaron Turner

MAYODAN, NORTH CAROLINA

Tombs; Beta Omega Sigma; Class Baseball (1); Varsity Baseball (1, 2, 3, 4); Trinity Park School; "T" Club; Representative on Athletic Council; Class Football (3).

"Pee Wee" is the only man in the class who boasts of a lyric soprano voice. He gives expression to his vocal ability preferably during the wee small hours of the morning when most people like to sleep. "Pee Wee" was overheard to suggest in senior class meeting once that men might know as much about women as women do about themselves, and, working on the assumption that in both cases it is zero, "Pee Wee" may have been right. He is perhaps the best-natured man in the class, and is everybody's friend.

Yasuko Henu

HIROSHIMA, JAPAN

Scarritt Bible Training School; Student Government; Y. W. C. A.; Brooks Literary Society, Marshal.

Hats off to Yasuko! She is the first Oriental girl to take a degree in Duke University, and she is getting it in record time, too. She is just a wee bit of a thing, but she has won a great big place in our hearts—a place she will hold even after she goes back to her "Land of the Cherry Blossoms" to win hearts there. Our best wishes for every success will always follow our little friend from Hiroshima.

Vascom Leonard Umberger, Jr.

CONCORD, NORTH CAROLINA

Hesperian Literary Society.

Here is the man whose propensities for business were so strong that the authorities had to put an embargo on his pay-as-you-enter-and-take-what-you-can stores and were so irrepressible that he told the dean he didn't have time to waste trying to pass Mink Glasson's Ec. Courses. At the present writing he is making the business men of Charlotte sit up and take notice. We hated to part with Umberger at the last moment; he had come to be an institution with us.

Ruby Adna Naughtan

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Student Government Association; Junior Big Sisters; Y. W. C. A.

Now, some people would say that Ruby has had a bad influence over them, because she persuaded them to stay away from chapel, but I'm sure just as many more times she led them in the paths of virtue, because she herself was there. And to what is her magnetic influence due? Why, Ruby always has on the tip of her tongue just the right thing to say.

Lucy Twyne Waller

K Δ

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Lucy is often called reserved, but those who know her best know that the sparkle of her blue eyes reflects her real spirit of liveliness. She is always ready for fun, yet she always knows when to stop and never makes the mistake of carrying the joke too far. Nobody ever sees Lucy studying, hurrying, or worrying, but she seldom fails to do what is expected of her.

Joe Smith Warlick

H. K. A.

NEWTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Joe entered Trinity in '21, but after staying three days, decided that he preferred married life to that of a freshman. But some lucky chance of fate saved him, and, after spending two years at Catawba, he came back to finish with the Class of '25. His many friends of the campus are glad indeed that he decided to come back to the fold. His ever-present sense of humor, his big-heartedness, and his friendship as true as steel have won for him a place in the affections of all with whom he has come in contact. It is a rare privilege to know "Big Dan."

Eugene Spencer Ware

MORGANTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Spencer got a running start at Rutherford College, and then came over to spend the last three years of his college career with us. He soon assumed a place of sure affection among his schoolmates, and has held his audiences in Columbia spellbound with his oratory night after night. If you want to get told just where to get off, just start something with Ware. He is a past master at the art of cryptic retort, flavored with wholesome humor, and incidentally he'll take your baggage, sell you a bus ticket, a cafeteria book, or flowers for your best girl. It is said that he will either become a great revival singer or a teacher of English Comp.

"The big man with the little instrument" of the Glee Club. Frank proved this year that he could manage the Glee Club as well as be its clown. He stands for the highest type of wholesome entertainment and thoroughly understands his game. He functions in chapel as announcer and song leader, and frequently is mistaken for the Dean.

Marion Warren

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

North Carolina College for Women (1, 2); Brooks Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Junior Big Sisters.

It takes a long acquaintance to know this young lady as she really is, but the twinkle in her brown eyes lets you know that she delights in merriment, and her "auburn" hair tells you that she can furnish her share of it. A person of refinement, poise, and all those other qualities that make you recognize her as one of superior rank.

Frank Miller Weaver, Jr.

Assistant Manager Baseball (1, 2); University of North Carolina (3).

Frank deserted us for the hill for his junior work, but he soon found his mistake and came back to finish the course with us. We regretted his departure, and we rejoiced in his return. Frank is modest and unassuming, and of the quiet, gentlemanly type that everyone likes. We are all proud to claim Frank as a friend, and we hope that his second stay with us will weld him to us in as close a friendship as the one we feel for him.

It took three years to get Joe out of the Inn, and then we heard that the Inn was to come down—perhaps not because "Joe" left, though. "Joe" is a letter man in tennis and has captained the team this year. In addition to that he helps to edit the Chronicle and is on the staff of the Archive. With all of these accomplishments "Joe" combines a high quality of friendship that endears him to all of us.

Ella Thowerten Whitted

K Δ, Φ B K

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Sweet, studious, and unassuming are hackneyed words, but when applied to Ella they have an individuality like her very own. She has done her work so effectively that she ranks with the elect. Even Phi Beta Kappa should be proud of her. Always we see her hurrying to finish one task that she may have time for another. But when she shifts some of her responsibility to broader shoulders—may she live happily ever after!

Fred Thomas Wiggins

Σ Φ E

DENMARK, SOUTH CAROLINA

The Citadel (2, 3); South Carolina Club; Y. M. C. A.

The "Sheik of Denmark" is militaristic by nature. And, having first attended The Citadel before coming to Duke, he retained the idea that "rats" were created solely for the purpose of being licked at regular and frequent intervals by upperclassmen. Freshmen who lived in the north section, third floor, of Alsbaugh had admirable opportunity to realize this. Like his diminutive brother, Jimmy, Fred has an Ec complex. He also has an abiding faith in South Carolina as the flower of American statehood. We will pass lightly over his misfortune of having been born in the Palmetto State, for Fred is a mighty good fellow and as full of fun as porous-knit pants are full of holes.

We were not strong enough to attract Wiggins until he was almost ready to be a junior. He had tried a Virginia college and a South Carolina college, and then he decided that he would become one of the lynxes. He found a welcome here and soon took his place as one of our scholars. We have come to like him, and we are expecting him to be one of those who will bring honor to the Class of 1925.

Armour was a Durhamite when we started our course, but his family moved to the coast when we had progressed about half of our distance. Armour stayed with us, though, and we are all glad that he did. He is one of the strong men of the Glee Club, with a deep bass voice that colcely resembles thunder. He is at his best on Glee Club trips, when completely surrounded by feminine admirers.

Beulah Ruth Wilkerson

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Student Government; Athena Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Freshman Basketball Team; Glee Club; Junior Big Sisters; Varsity Play, 24.

It takes a long acquaintance to know Beulah as she really is, but it is well worth one's time. Quite naturally we were surprised that one so quiet and unassuming should appear in "Cyrano de Bergerac," but she chattered along with the rest of the prociuses, and looked as demure as nuns ever should. It is quite an achievement to play a minor part well, but it is a lesson well learned, and a sure sign of faithful service.

Dwight has had two handicaps to overcome while he has been with the Class of '25. He has a brother on the faculty and he has been with the class only a part of the way. Despite these handicaps, he has made a name for himself and will be remembered by his many friends for many years to come. Here's wishing you a long, successful career as a teacher, Dwight.

Eunice Adeline Williams

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Eunice hasn't been with us the entire four years, because she stopped to teach school for a while, going to summer school to make up the work. "Runt," although small of stature, has played a rather prominent part during his four years in college. In his studies and in his campus activities he has been quiet, but persistent. His greatest part, however, has been in the game of friendship. He has made friends consistently, and has been a good demonstration of friendship himself. It is interesting to note that these friends are of both sexes, and it is uncertain which sex holds first place in "Runt's" heart.

Withrow has the old Duke spirit so deeply imbued in him that, in his freshman year, he held the rapt attention of Ni White, traveling incognito (so far as Withrow was concerned) all the way from Durham to Greensboro, while he told him of the marvelous things at Trinity. Dr. White, no doubt, like the rest of us, little suspected the talents of the versatile young man at his side. Withrow is a dangerous man on the cinder path—dangerous because of his steady, persistent work. And, withal, he is a hard-working pre-med student.

As a student, Florence is bright and diligent; as a friend, helpful and true. In her work, no matter how difficult the task, she will strive until she has attained the goal. In social circles she is timid; she does not flatter nor flirt, but is very generous in bestowing gentle smiles here and rendering true service there. Her work in silence has influenced further than we know. No wonder she has many admirers, and among them is the lucky one—the one with whom she is in love.

Resume of the 1924 Season

By W. G. BRADSHAW

The Trinity College football team was greatly handicapped by losses of old men, and had the most disastrous season from start to finish of any team to represent the institution since the reestablishment of football, in 1920. Coach Howard Jones was unable to cope with the lack of material and the misfortune at the outset of the season, which cost him the services of Ed. Bullock, veteran star of two seasons, due to an injury received in practice. Trinity went through the season without a captain, due to the failure of Fritz Crute, captain-elect, to return to college. Coach Jones appointed an acting captain before each game.

The chief cause of the failures of the Trinity team to annex victories was its lack of an efficient aerial attack and its inability to break up the forward passing attacks of the opposing teams. Four of Trinity's five losses came, directly or indirectly, through this weakness. Her line, weak on paper, came through in fine style, and the loss of such men as Simpson, Taylor, Hatcher, Carter, and others was not felt as keenly as had been expected. The team fought hard throughout the season, but lacked the experience necessary to come through with a successful season. Lagerstedt, in the backfield, and Grigg, in the line, were the outstanding stars.

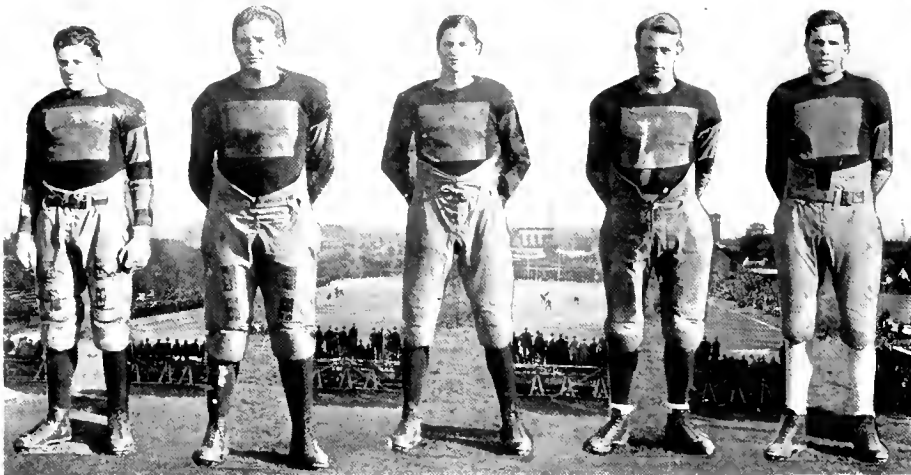

HOWARD JONES
Coach

NORTH CAROLINA STATE

Trinity outplayed State for three quarters and had chances to score in each, but was unable to push the ball across the goal line at crucial moments. In the last quarter of the game State opened up with a forward passing attack, scoring two touchdowns and subsequent goals.

RAY DOWNEY
Manager

winning the game, 14 to 0. Grigg and Lagerstedt stood out for Trinity on the defense. Lack of reserve material with which to inject new blood in the final quarter proved disastrous to the Blue Devils.

GUILFORD.

The Blue Devils ran roughshod over the Quakers, winning by an overwhelming 33 to 6 score. In this game Reitzel and Frank shot off-tackle and around the ends for good gains, and Lagerstedt ploughed through the line. The Blue Devils worked a successful passing attack against the Quakers. For Trinity, Lagerstedt and Frank were stars on the offense, while the whole line worked well on the defense.

CAROLINA

Doped to lose by a large score, the Blue Devils put up the best fight against Carolina they have made since football was reestablished here. The line held like a stone wall throughout the game, and it was only through the medium of drop-kicks that the strong Carolina team was able to come through with a victory. In the third quarter the Blue Devil line held back the galaxy of Carolina human battering rams for four downs inside the six-yard line to ward off a touchdown, only to let Devin kick a field goal from the 24-yard line a few minutes later. Grigg and Lagerstedt again proved stars on the defense.

RICHMOND UNIVERSITY

The Blue Devils completely outplayed the Richmond University team throughout this game, and won a comparatively easy victory. Kimball and Caldwell crossed the Richmond goal line for touchdowns and Caldwell kicked both goals after touchdowns. For the second time during the season Trinity's forward passing game met with success, both the touchdowns being the result of an aerial attack. Trinity was never headed in this game. Again Frank and Lagerstedt made substantial gains. Caldwell, Kimball, Grigg, and Lagerstedt starred for the Blue Devils on this occasion.

WILLIAM AND MARY

Inability to combat a successful forward passing attack again proved disastrous to Trinity. William and Mary scored in the first few minutes by the air route, a bewildering pass, Matsu to Davis, completely baffling the Blue Devil backs. The Indians scored again in the first half as a result of a forward pass. Matsu kicked both goals. Stellar work by the Blue Devil line in the last few minutes of the first half, holding the Indian attack on the four-yard line for four downs and preventing another score, was heartening to the small band of Trinity supporters. At the beginning of the second half Lagerstedt made several nice gains through the William and Mary line and carried the ball to the 35-yard line, from which Caldwell kicked a pretty field goal from a difficult angle. Lack of Blue Devil reserves enabled William and Mary to score another touchdown in the last quarter. The goal, after touchdown, was kicked, and the score stood 21 to 3.

ELON

Trinity trounced Elon by a 54 to 0 score in a game lacking in thrills, in which the Blue Devils scored at will, by forward passes, end runs, and line bucks. The whole Trinity team stood out against a much inferior team.

WAKE FOREST

The Blue Devils started the game with a fight that indicated the possibility of their upsetting the dope bucket, and beating the powerful Demon Deacons. Trinity even had a decided advantage in the first quarter. In the second quarter, bad judgment by Frank in passing from the 20 yard line enabled Wake Forest to intercept the pass and place the ball in a position to score, which they did a few minutes later. This was the only score in the first half. In the last half a general mixture of bad judgment on the part of Trinity quarterbacks, bad work in attempting and breaking up passes, and evident drowsiness on the part of the whole team, enabled Wake Forest to pile up a big score, winning 32 to 0.

WOFFORD

In a slow game on a wet field, played in the midst of a slow, steady rain, Trinity defeated Wofford by a 12 to 0 score. The only features of the game were runs by Lagerstedt, who scored two touchdowns for the only scores of the game.

DAVIDSON

The Blue Devils started off with a rush and put up a good exhibition of football in the first half, piling up ten points by a placement kick, touchdown, and goal after touchdown. The Wildcats got wild, however, in the last half and, staging a strong comeback, won by a 20 to 13 score.

THE TRINITY FOOTBALL SQUAD, 1924

Freshman Football Resume

In some respects the disastrous season of the Red Devils was similar to that of the Trinity Blue Devils. As in the case of the Varsity, lack of judgment in forward passing cost the freshman team heavily on several occasions. The Red Devils won only one game out of the four played, tied one, and lost four.

In spite of their inability to win games, the freshmen had some very good material. Some of the men showed up as prospective Varsity material for next year. The work of Kelly, Stephens, and Covington, in the line, and Sellars, Captain Swift, and Weaver, in the backfield, was especially outstanding. The freshmen lost all their games by very close scores.

GREENSBORO HIGH SCHOOL

The Red Devils lost their first game of the season to Greensboro High School. Bad skull work on the part of the Trinity freshmen backs cost them the game. The freshmen outplayed Greensboro, and, but for this break, the score would have ended in a 0 to 0 tie. The Red Devil line showed up well throughout the game.

OAK RIDGE

The strong Oak Ridge team started off as if they intended to make a walk-away out of the game. The Freshmen soon slowed them down to a walk, however, and the game was nip and tuck all the way through. The game ended in a 0 to 0 tie. On two occasions the ball was passed over the Oak Ridge goal line on the third down after it had been carried to within five yards of the goal. Covington and Kelly starred for the freshmen.

WAKE FOREST FRESHMEN

Wake Forest beat the Red Devils in a close game at Wake Forest by a 13 to 6 score. Wake Forest scored first, making a touchdown and kicking goal. Trinity then scored a touchdown. In the last few minutes of play, with the score 7 to 6 in favor of the Baptists, and the ball in Trinity's possession on her ten-yard line, Quarterback Swift elected to try a pass in a frantic effort to score. The pass was intercepted by a Wake Forest back, who cantered across the goal line for the final score of the game.

DAVIDSON FRESHMEN

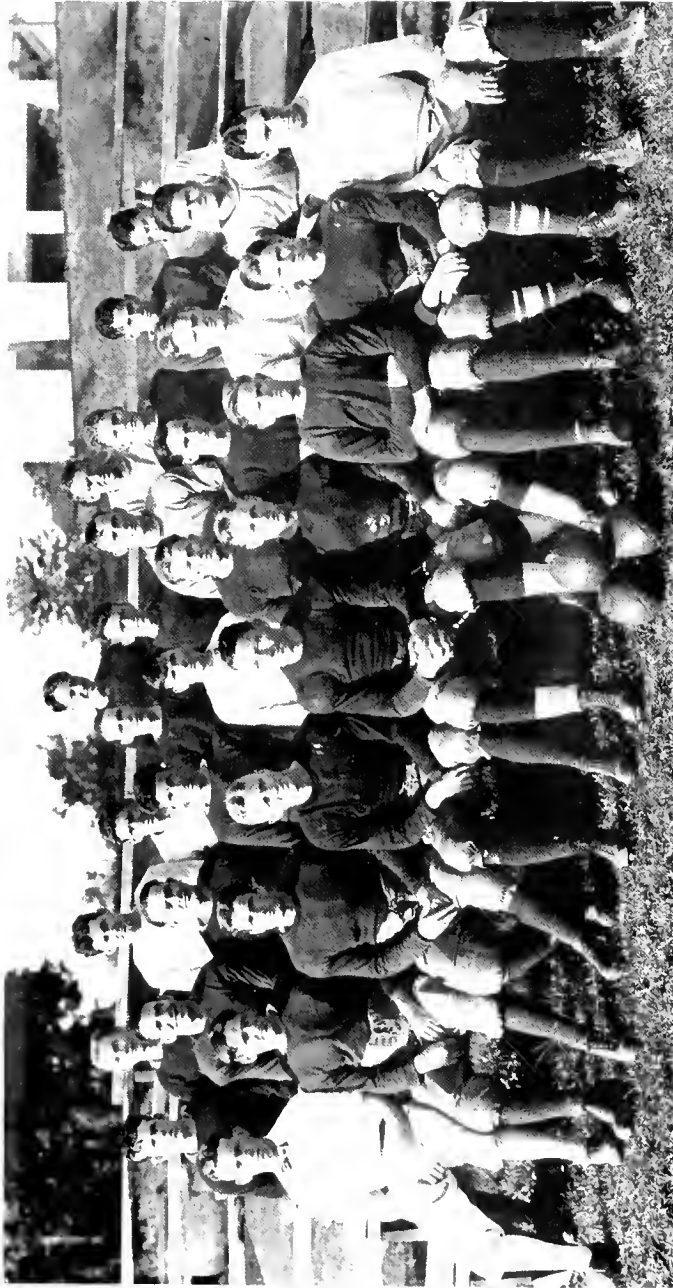

In a game played at Davidson, featured only by the inability of Trinity backs to remember signals, the Red Devils went down before the Wild Kittens by a 17 to 12 score. Trinity outplayed Davidson throughout a large part of the game. Swift was the only outstanding star for Trinity.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE FRESHMEN

On a wet Hanes Field, Trinity freshmen went down in defeat, 12 to 0, before the North Carolina State Wolverines. Bad fumbles by the Red Devil backs in the early stages of the game paved the way for State scoring. The work of Kelly and Stephens, in the line, and Sellars, in the backfield, were the features for Trinity.

NEWPORT NEWS APPRENTICE SCHOOL

In the last game of the season, played at Norfolk, the Red Devils annexed their first victory, beating the Newport News Apprentice School by a 15 to 7 score. The whole team came through in its best game of the season. Covington, Stephens, and Sellars starred.

Resume

Basketball has been a major sport at Trinity College for thirteen years, and it is appropriate that a brief review of the history of the Trinity quintets for past seasons be given here. Trinity will be unable to defend herself in the future, for she has entered upon a new era, that of Duke University.

During the past thirteen seasons, the Trinity basketballers have indeed made an admirable record. Five times they have been the undisputed champions of the state, and at numerous other times they have held second place for that honor. Trinity has won sixty-eight games out of ninety-seven played. In these games the Trinity quintets were able to score 2,873 points against their opponents' 2,229, leaving the Blue Devils over 600 points in the lead.

Due to the consistent training given by Coach George Buchheit, former University of Kentucky coach, Captain Bullock and Graham, the only letter men of last year, together with Butler, Bagg, and Moss, got away to a flying start in the first game of the season when they defeated a group of former crack Trinity tossers composed of Spikes, Richardson, Crute, Borland, and Hathaway.

On January 9 the Duke University quintet suffered defeat at the hands of the Davidson Wildcats. Duke gained the lead in the early moments of the game and held it throughout the first half. In the last few minutes of play, however, the Davidsonians rallied and gained one basket over the Blue Devils, the score ending 27-25 in favor of the Wildcats. Captain Bullock was the main offensive player, showing remarkable caging ability and fast floor work. Seeking revenge, the Blue Devils then journeyed from Charlotte to the Presbyterians' home court, but they emerged from the fray with the claws of the Wildcats more firmly imbedded in their flesh, having received the small end of a 39-22 score.

Duke emerged victorious over Guilford in the first game played on the home court, but not without a struggle. When the whistle blew the score stood 34-22 in favor of Duke. Kimball and Bullock continued to show up as stellar players, while Bagg proved that he could play well his position as guard.

On January 17 the Techmen invited the Blue Devils to Raleigh, and the new North Carolina State gymnasium was fittingly christened, for the Duke basketballers were sent away carrying a 29-22 defeat. Through close guarding the State men were able to keep Duke from gaining the lead, and the few preliminary goals made by the Blue Devils amounted to little when the Techmen opened up their superior system of defense.

In the closest game of the season played on the home court, the Duke tossers were forced to accept the small end of a 25-21 score in a thrilling game with the Southern championship Carolina team. The Blue Devils managed to take the lead in the first half, making the outlook bright for the Methodist supporters, but Carolina staged a rally in the last few minutes of play and eased out two extra goals over the Duke basketballers. All the regulars except Moss being forced to retire because of personal fouls or injuries, the odds were against Duke, and defeat was spelled for the Blue Devils.

In the next game the Methodists were unable to compete with the Demon Deacons at Wake Forest and suffered a 43-18 defeat. Leeper was the only outstanding player for Duke.

History repeated itself when the Wildcats invaded the Blue Devils' territory, and for the third time of the season the Methodists went down in bitter defeat. Duke held the top score during the first half, but the Wildcats, fighting fiercely, managed to take the lead, and the final score stood: Duke, 18; Davidson, 22. Bullock and Moss were the stellar players for Duke.

The Blue Devils next invaded Northern territory and engaged William and Mary in a terrific battle for existence, but the odds were in the enemy's favor, Duke losing by a 23-15 score. The game was fast and hotly contested.

In a better game than the score indicates, Duke was defeated in one of the best games of the season at Richmond, 25-35, by the Richmond University quint. The work of Moss in this game was highly commendable.

William and Mary, however, were unable to conquer the Methodists in their own territory and were forced to return to the Old Dominion with a 21-16 score. The Blue Devils played a sure, steady game, and the Indians were unable to break through their defense. Bullock carried the attack for Buchheit's men, ably supported by Kimball and Graham.

Once again the Duke basketeters were forced to bow in defeat in the crack Tar Heel quint by a 34-18 score in the game played on the Chapel Hill floor. The Blue Devils played a consistent defensive game throughout, but were forced to trail a few points behind during the whole contest. Both teams played wildly, making numerous fumbles and very few sure shots.

Pitted against many old cage stars in the next game, the Blue Devils easily defeated the Durham Elks by a 48-38 score in one of the fastest games of the season. Moss was the high scorer, and the floor work of Burkheimer was excellent.

In the final game of a rather unsuccessful season, the Blue Devils outdid themselves and romped on the Demon Deacons, and surprised even the most ardent supporters by running up a 28-25 score. Duke exhibited some close guarding, and the Baptists were allowed few chances to toss goals. The first half ended 13 all, but with the opening of the second period, the Methodists were able to take the lead and hold it during the remainder of the game. Moss and Bullock were the outstanding stars of the game, but the close co-operation of the entire team accounted for the much-needed victory.

Losing only one man, Graham, by graduation, and with the addition of the members of the championship Freshman Red Devils to the varsity aggregation, Duke University basketball stock is just bound to rise.

Freshman Basketball

The Duke Red Devil basketball team, the first Freshman team ever to represent Duke University, ended a highly successful season by winning the championship of North Carolina. Through the consistent work of Coach "Key" Taylor and the co-operation of every member of the squad, the team was able to attain its goal. Kelley and Hartness were the high scorers of the winning team, but the work of the others was indeed highly commendable.

Games won by the Duke yearlings were: Two each from the "Little Deacons" of Wake Forest and from North Carolina State and one each from Oak Ridge Institute, Davidson, Smithfield High, Carolina, and Wilmington High School. The only defeat of the season was one of the two games played with the Carolina Freshmen.

The members of the championship team were Captain Kelley, Hartness, Brantley, Bennett, Weaver, Shipley, Swaringen, Rogers, and Fulghum.

Baseball, 1924

By GEO. P. HARRIS

The Trinity "Wonder Team" finished the 1924 baseball season with a record of sixteen wins out of twenty games played—an admirable record. Composing the membership of this team were a number of athletes who have gained for themselves prominent places in the Trinity Hall of Fame.

On March 27 the Blue Devils hit in fine form and took the opening game of the season from Elon, 13-2. In the next game, with Captain Sanderson pitching and Everett Spikes slugging heavily, Trinity blanked Guilford, 8-0.

In an exhibition game at Rocky Mount, Dempster got the best of the Demon Deacons in a pitchers' battle, and the contest was won, 3-1. Turner and Chappell clouted out circuit drives to aid in the victory.

With "Sandy" pitching air-tight ball and the whole team displaying a scintillating brand of fielding, the Blue Devils blanked the Davidson Wildcats in Greensboro, 5-0, April 8 in one of the hardest played tilts of the season.

The biggest upset of the year came when "little Lenoir," continuing her fireworks, surprised all tandem by easing one over on the Blue Devils by a 2-1 score. The "big Lenoir Moose" turned loose his fast ones so that the Methodists couldn't connect, and he was easily the star of the game.

Three days later Jones' sluggers came back by hitting heavily against State's strongest tossers and winning, 7-4. Turner pulled several sure hits out of the air, and Spikes starred at the plate, getting two extra base hits and a pair of singles.

On the 15th the Methodists solved Sorrell's offerings and walked away from the Baptists, 8-3. Trinity followers were sorely disappointed when Carolina downed the Methodists, 1-0, in a classic contest. Bryson tossed a wonderful game and won over Captain "Jess" in a close and hard-fought pitchers' duel.

In their annual Easter Monday affair, the Blue Devils gave the Durham Bulls a scare by getting away to a 3-0 lead and holding it until the fifth. The game ended, however, with the Bulls leading, 8-3.

Wofford was defeated, 10-2, in the opening game on the Southern trip, and in a thrilling game at Clinton the Blue Devils won over Presbyterian College, 5-4, McDaris hitting a home run and scoring Johnson. The Methodists were again successful in their third game which they took from the University of South Carolina, 10-4. Many spectacular plays were pulled by both teams, while Sanderson had more curves than the Gamecocks could master, whiffing ten men.

In another visit to Auburn, the Blue Devils took a very fast contest from them, 4-2. Quoting an Auburn paper: "Trinity clearly outclassed the Auburn aggregation and displayed a brand of baseball seldom seen in college circles in the South."

Jumping next down to the "land of alligators and ostrigans," the Blue Devils annexed two more scalps by defeating the University of Florida, 11-6, and Stetson, 5-1.

On their way back home Jones' men stopped over in Gastonia, and, hitting Laird's offerings, freely swamped the Wildcats, 12-4. The Methodists were superb in every department of the game. In a regular slugfest Trinity next romped all over Elon to the tune of 24-1. The Blue Devils clouted the Christian hurlers for a total of 22 hits, three of them being homers.

Journeying to Raleigh on May 8 the Methodists fell from grace and allowed State to defeat them, 6-2. Lefty Hill for State held his opponents to seven scattered bingles, while Sanderson was driven from the mound. The Technicians worked some pretty plays and exhibited some smart baseball.

On May 14 over 5,000 fans saw the "Wonder Team" throw off the jinx and defeat the formidable Carolina aggregation, 4-3, on Emerson Field after nine close innings. The Methodists staged a rally in the ninth and secured revenge when an error by Jones paved the way for victory. Dad bum it! If that Spikes boy didn't bat a thousand! Getting a homer, a triple, and two singles out of four times at bat. How it was done: With the score standing 3-2 in the ninth in favor of Carolina, Dempster dumped the ball down the first base line, and Jones allowed it to trickle through his legs, Dempster being safe. Johnson sacrificed, and Chappell fled to center field. It looked like a sure victory for Carolina, but McDaris parked the ball to left field, sending Dempster in for the tying run. "Eve" English hit to center field and scored McDaris with the winning run.

As a fitting close for the season, the Methodists trounced the Baptists roundly for the third time, 8-2. The entire team played good ball behind the superb pitching of Dempster, who proved himself the greatest college hurler in the state. Besides striking out eight men, Dempster secured three hits out of four times at bat. Thus ended the college baseball careers of "Hooks" Spikes, "Bill" Towe, and "Jess" Sanderson. They have gone to conquer other worlds.

Trinity, running state a close race for the championship, challenged them to play off the deciding game. State refused.

The Blue Devils took ten of the thirteen games with colleges of the state and ended the season with a percentage of .800, counting all games. Out of the twenty games played, Captain Sanderson won eight and Dempster eight. Each twirler lost two games.

The veteran centerfielder, Spikes, led not only his team, but also any individual batter in the state in the matter of slugging. This hefty player slammed out 42 safe hits out of 79 times up for an average of .532, also registering 25 runs for the club. The five other leading batters were: Turner, shortstop, .357; Smith, third base, .350, leading in runs, with 27; Johnson, catcher, .311; Dempster, pitcher, .262, and Sanderson, pitcher, .250.

Resume of the 1924 Season

By A. C. WAGGONER

Trinity got off to an auspicious start in the 1924 track season, defeating Hampden-Sidney by a large score. By winning this meet and through the work done by new men in their events, Coach Burbage was led to count on his team for one of the most successful seasons Trinity has had in years, nor was he far wrong. The work of Freshmen Jones, Beverly, Leath, and Redmon in their events was striking. Throughout the rest of the season Trinity, although handicapped by the inability of Captain Pinnix to take part in track work and the slow start of her dash man, Barnhardt, due to mumps and injuries to his knees, managed to have a fairly successful year.

In her second meet, with Wake Forest furnishing the opposition, Trinity won in the last few events of the meet, due to the ability of her weight men to overcome all opposition. The meet came off in a steady downpour of rain during the Easter holidays, and in spite of a very slow track some good time was made in several events. Score, 63-53.

At Williamsburg the Trinity track team, running on a muddy and a very heavy track, was defeated by the William and Mary team by a score of 76¹/₂ to 50¹/₂. The feature of the meet for Trinity was the running of Redmon, who won first place in the mile and also in the two mile, running the latter for the first time and breaking the former Trinity record for the event, running the course in 10 minutes 21 3-5 seconds.

Taking only four men to Richmond to represent Trinity in the South Atlantic track meet, Coach Burbage had the satisfaction of seeing his men all place in the meet and of winning fourth place in the meet.

Trinity won fourth place in the State meet in Raleigh, being outpointed by State, Carolina, and Wake Forest.

Cross-Country

By A. C. WAGGONER

For the first time the athletic authorities promised to recognize the participants in this branch of sport by the awarding of sweaters and letters to those qualifying. With this announcement, an increased interest was manifested by the would-be runners.

The first cross-country meet of the year was with Washington and Lee at Lexington, Virginia. The Trinity runners were snowed under by the Virginians, the final score being 41 to 27. Mabry, finishing third, was the only Blue Devil to finish near the first.

Much better luck was encountered in the meet with Wake Forest. Every man on the Trinity team finished ahead of the Baptist harriers, with the exception of Bailey, of Wake Forest, who first broke the tape.

Trinity was expected to push Carolina for first place in the state meet, but was a disappointment in that respect. Mabry again finished on the heels of Bailey of Wake Forest, but the next Trinity man finished in sixteenth place. Redmon, who had been counted on for a place near the first, was sick, and in no condition to run.

At the end of the season the following men were recognized for their efforts: Mabry, Redmon, Holt, Withrow, and Hatcher.

Tennis

By B. E. ATKINS

Since there was very little time for training and practice at the opening of school, Coach White and Manager Harbison did not see fit to arrange an extensive fall schedule for the Duke racketeers. Hence, it was decided that there would be only three meets—one with Carolina, one with Wake Forest, and one with Guilford. Nearly all of last year's letter men returned to school, and upon the summons of Coach White others ventured forth to try their proficiency in the net game. Some of these showed up well, while others, rueful as it may seem, faded away into oblivion. Freshmen Rogers, Lyon, Carmichael, and Holton made worthy demonstrations on the court.

but ascribable to the one-year rule, which is now being applied to tennis as well as to the major sports, they were not allowed to play as members of the regular team.

After the elimination tournament the following men were selected to make up the team: Captain Whisnant, Burns, Mayer, Swaringen, Farriss, and Karnes. This team practiced consistently until the arrival of the day for the first, and probably the most trying game of the fall season.

Carolina, the first institution with whom the Duke racket-warriors clashed, was contested on her own battling ground, and the combat turned out to be sadly disastrous to the court men from dear old Duke. Captain Whisnant and his fellows, although somewhat disheartened by this defeat, were absolutely intrepid, and began to prepare for the remaining meets of the fall in a calm and determined fashion. These two meets soon came and were gone, and Wake Forest and Guilford alike had been trampled into the dust of defeat by the racket men from Duke. Thus ended the fall season, Duke's victories well overbalancing her defeats.

Manager Harbison is arranging an extremely heavy spring schedule for the Duke players, but they are expecting to come out in fine shape at the end of the season. The tennis prospects for next year, with Rogers, Lyons, Carmichael, and Holton in view as varsity men, are exceedingly bright. Tennis is beginning to take its rightful place among athletics at Duke University, and may the game ever continue to increase in moment and popularity.

Miscellaneous Sports

IN reviewing the athletic achievements of the sport season, it is an inevitable fact that something must be said about the miscellaneous sports that form a great part of our college life. These sports were under the personal supervision of Coach Herman Steiner, with the exception of volley ball, which was under the supervision of "Cap" Card. This branch of college sports include volley ball, intramural football, and basketball, interdormitory basketball, and interfraternity basketball.

Volley Ball

"Cap" Card, who is noted for his famous "knothole home run," is also justly famous for his interest in volley ball. This year "Cap" confined his sport mainly to the faculty and the seniors. The dignified seniors had a nifty team, composed of "Fats" Cross, "Pee Wee" Turner, Marquis Lawrence, "Lefty" Crews, David Hix, and Gordon Roebuck. This team was given stiff opposition by the faculty, composed of Profs. Spence, Mount, Patterson, Coaches Taylor and Buchheit, and Mr. Whitted. The championship between the above rivals remains indefinitely unsettled.

Intramural

The competition among the classes proved to be exceedingly keen in all branches of sport this year. Last fall the students were witnesses to a brand of football seldom displayed by class teams. By the process of elimination, the freshman and sophomore teams stepped aside. In a royal game, the McDaris-led junior team defeated the Farriss-coached seniors. Then came the basketball season, and each class was well represented. Again, by the process of elimination, the freshman team was eliminated. The juniors, not to be outdone by their sister class, also were left by the wayside. The "bloody" sophomore clan finally annexed the class basketball championship by decisively defeating the strong senior team.

Interfraternity

The race for the fraternity loving cup was quickly narrowed down to four fraternities. After an interesting tournament, the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity were left to battle it out. After the storm of the final battle blew over, the Lambda Chis were found sitting on the top and laying first claim to the beautiful loving cup that was offered by the Durham business men.

Interdormitory

The interdormitory games turned out to be the least interesting from a basketball viewpoint, but they showed the clean rivalry that exists between the different buildings. The two teams that were in the contest from the start to the finish were the teams representing Jarvis Hall and Epworth Hall. The Jarvis team was slightly the better, however, and were acclaimed the champions in their respective class.

Wrestling, 1924-1925

By A. H. YOUNG

As wrestling was made famous by the ancient Greeks during the building of their great nation, so will the Blue Devil matmen make it famous in the building of their great university. Ever since this ancient sport was introduced into North Carolina collegiate circles four years ago, the Trinity grapplers have been able to keep the state championship title in their possession with comparative ease. During the past season Coach Bailey's proteges put up a good fight and were able to come through on top as usual.

The initial meet of the year was held with the Raleigh Y. M. C. A. The Duke Blue Tights overwhelmingly defeated the Raleigh grapplers by a 26-3 score. Captain Hardaway was easily the star of the contest, taking a fall from his opponent in one minute and 25 seconds. Williams and McIntosh, new men at the game, showed up well, Williams winning by a fall and McIntosh by points.

The North Carolina State grapplers were next to fall into the net of the Methodists. Coached by a former Blue Devil star, "Red" Hicks, the Technicians were strong and put up a hard fight throughout the match. Hardaway and Midgett were the stellar grapplers of the meet, each winning over his opponent in less than three minutes. Hicks won over Yearby by a one second advantage in an extra period. The Duke matmen won the meet by four falls and two time decisions, piling up a score of 24-3.

Coach Bailey then escorted his team on a strenuous trip through Maryland and Virginia. The first meet was held in Baltimore with the United States Navy squad, the strongest mat team in the entire nation, picked from a group of over three hundred candidates. Against this strong opposition Duke was successful in carrying away the small end of a 21-5 score, and the admiration of the entire naval academy. As the Washington Post stated it, "Duke matmen prove tough toe against U. S. Naval Cadets despite one-sided score." The middies took three bouts via the fall route, and as many decisions for time advantages. The feature bout went to Umberger in the liveliest match of the meet. The navy coach stated that the Duke team had afforded their stiffest opposition of the season, and request was made for a return meet next year.

The Duke matmen next took on V. M. I. and the Washington and Lee Cadets. Both meets were lost, but not without a tough struggle, V. M. I. winning 16-9 and the Cadets 14-9. "Big Boy" Matheson, star heavyweight of last year, was unable to accompany the team on this trip.

Wrestlers composing the Duke team were as follows: Hardaway, Matheson, Umberger, Yearby, May, Johnson, Midgett, and McIntosh.

*Hats off to you, the White and Blue;
Uphold the standard of D. U.;
We watch with pride the mighty stride
Of all our lads so brave and true;
No fear we know, where'er we go,
The battle always will be won;
We raise our cry to win or die,
And all the glory to D. U.*

Acknowledgment

IT would be an impossible task to name all those to whom the editor should in fairness express appreciation for valuable assistance rendered in the publication of this volume. The editing of a college annual is not the task of one man; it is not the task of the small corps of faithful workers who compose the staff; it is the task of the whole student body, particularly of the members of the Senior Class. Without co-operation, the editor and his staff would be able to accomplish nothing. It is for those who read this volume to say just how much has been accomplished, and, however much or little that may be, the credit should go to the many who have responded to the various calls and to the smaller number of interested friends who were never too busy to lend a helping hand.

Thirty-third Annual Intersociety Debate

DECEMBER 16, 1924

Query: Resolved. That the ports terminal bill, as defeated in the last election, should be adopted.

Result: Two votes for the negative, Hesperia.

Summary: Thirty-three debates; fifteen won by Columbia, eighteen won by Hesperia.

RESUME OF INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATES

During the year six intercollegiate debates were held, and, for the first time in the history of debating at Duke, the entire debating program was carried out on the open forum plan.

Of the two debates with the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, only one has been held as this volume goes to press. On December 9, at Raleigh, J. P. Boyd upheld the affirmative and W. S. Blakeney, Jr., the negative of the question favoring the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution. The decision was given in favor of the negative. The second debate with the State

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATERS

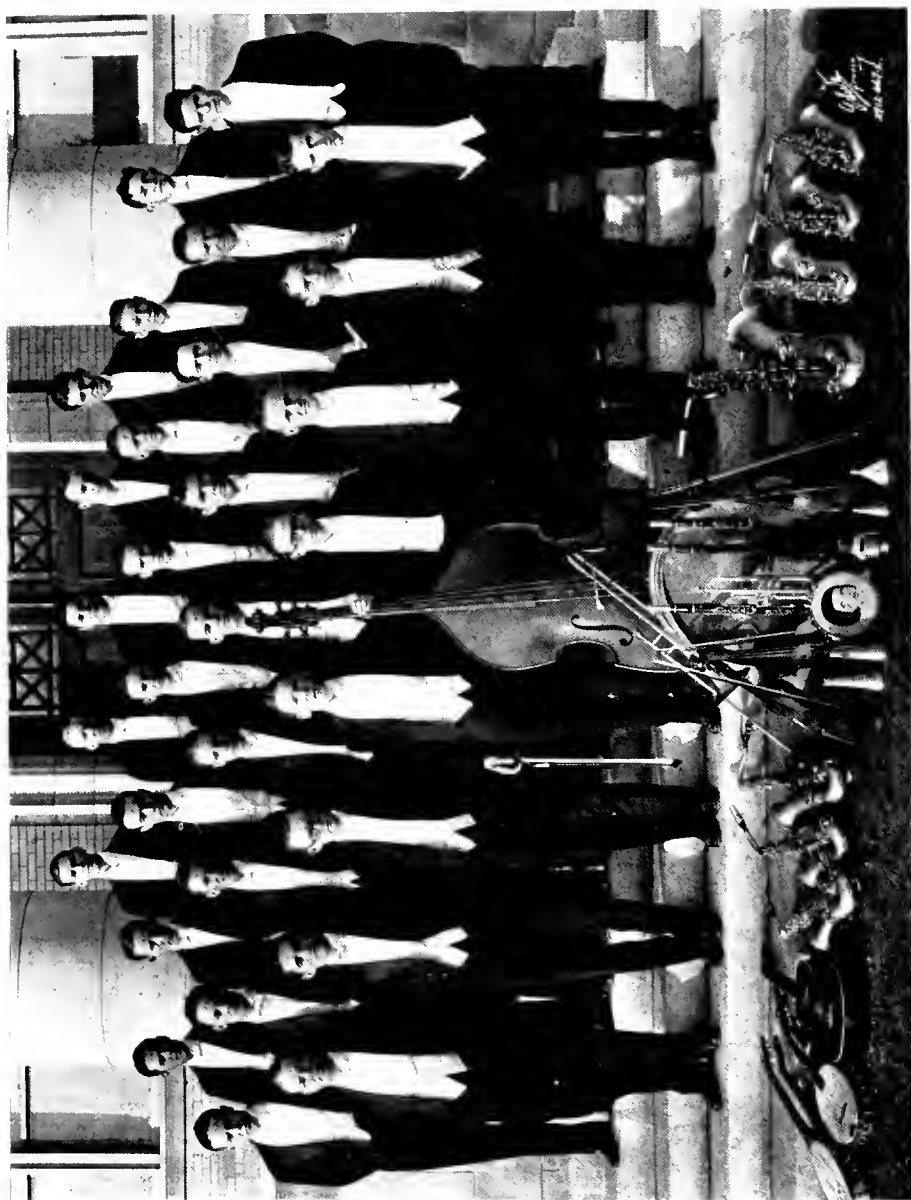

College, on the discontinuation of the policy of releasing national resources, is scheduled to take place at Durham on May 5.

The first debate of the year with Washington and Lee University was held at Durham, December 12. The question under discussion was the limitation of the power of the Supreme Court. The decision was given to the negative team, of which W. F. Craven, Jr., was a member. The affirmative was upheld by Mr. A. B. Gibson. The second debate with Washington and Lee is scheduled to be held at Lexington, Virginia, on April 24. W. G. Pratt will uphold the affirmative and W. S. Blakeney, Jr., the negative of the question of the recognition of Russia.

The annual debate with Swarthmore was held this year at Swarthmore, on March 12. The affirmative team, of which H. L. Hester was a member, triumphed over the negative team, of which L. L. Wall was a member, in debating the question of adopting the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

The first debate with Emory University held under the open forum plan was held April 4 at Durham. The question under discussion was the recognition of Russia, and the decision was awarded to the negative team. L. B. Hollowell represented Duke, on the negative, and G. B. Johnson, on the affirmative.

The Band

J. R. CHAMBERLAIN President
 C. T. MEACHAM, JR. Manager

Toward the beginning of the college year 1924-25, a movement was inaugurated looking toward the raising of funds with which to equip a college band. As the weeks passed this movement gained momentum, and, after a liberal amount had been raised among the students, the financing of the band was taken over by the alumni, with very gratifying results. The band made its first public appearance in February, and, under the able direction of Mr. S. A. Braxton, of Raleigh, has developed into an organization of which Duke is proud. As this volume goes to press, the band totals thirty-two members, with five or six reserves waiting for the purchase of instruments, and the total amount raised is given as approximately eight hundred dollars.

A Triple-Pass of Triolets

I. THE CHEER LEADER

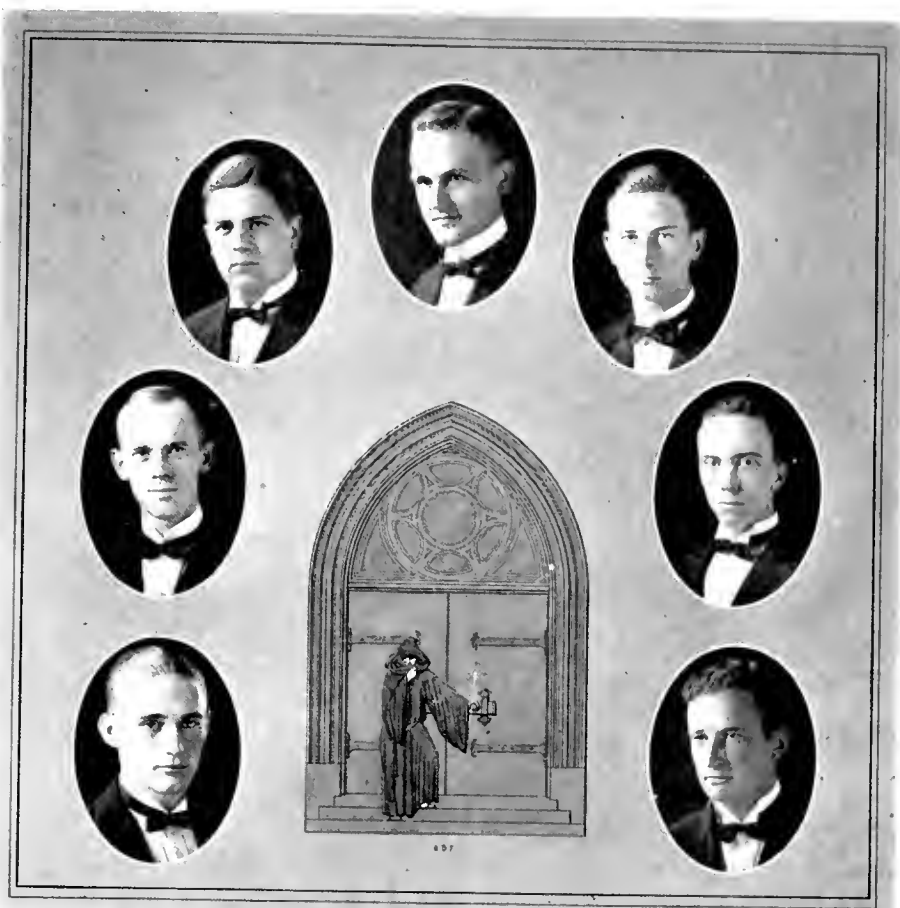

*"Nine rahs for the team!"
(There's his girl in the crowd,
And her eyes, how they gleam!)
"Nine rahs for the team!"
Say, put on some 'steam',
Make 'em snappy and loud!"
Nine rahs—for the team!
(There's his girl in the crowd).*

II. THE STANDS

*A line-buck's the thing!
Hit 'em high; hit 'em low.
Stand up, men, and sing!
A line-buck's the thing.
Make the stadium ring.
Say! fellows, let's go!
A line-buck's the thing,
Hit 'em high! hit 'em low!*

III. A PERSONAL NOTE

*She treads on my toes,
I fear I'll be lame!
With a chorus of "oh's"
She treads on my toes
As the left tackle's nose
Gets smashed, in the game.
She treads on my toes;
I fear I'll be lame!*

The Two Bridges at Nikko

*For I have climbed the iron-spiked gate
And fled the stumbling priest guard on his round.
For just an instant Daiya-gawa's sound
Rose, like a sinner's prayer to that prelate
Whose right it is to walk here, cold, sedate,
To me, who trembled lest I should be found
On this forbidden arch, where all around
The ghosts of kings whispered of life and fate.*

*"Save only priest and emperor, no man
May tread this arch," so speaks the sacred lore.
But I who dared, despite the holy ban,
Saw neither god nor ghost I should adore.
Yet, having stood upon that upper span
I now must cross the lower bridge no more.*

September Transient

*There is a mellow pleasantness about
The Negro village near the Southern town
On Autumn days; the talk flows in and out,
From house to house: Sis Chaney's man is "down
With chills and fever" . . . Duley's boys "has catch
Th'ee han'some 'possums" . . . Wesley's "up in co't"
(He got six months for it—he stole a watch).
Jessie is "cookin' out" . . . Dan's bought a shoat . . .
The talk goes on. The children play and sing
As white youths do, only more quietly.
A lazy hound, notch-eared and nondescript,
Sprawls on the sidewalk; every living thing,
Loving the sun, comes out of doors to see
Where laughing Autumn's feet have lightly tript.*

The Millennium Will Have Arrived

When Dean Mordecai quits using the old plug.
When R. B. Martin and L. L. Wall bolt the Republican party.
When Al Young stops going out for managerships.
When Freeman Twaddell stops smoking like Dr. Baum.
When Furman Bridgers stops smoking like Dean Wannamaker.
When Jim Farriss forgets to be sarcastic.
When Dean "Wanny" talks about Chapel attendance without saying:
 "You don't miss your meals; I don't see why you miss Chapel."
When Prexy shaves.
When college politics die.
When Dr. Laprade discards one of his two Kiwanian badges and starts wearing a Phi Beta Kappa key.
When Dean Hunt stops bawling in the early hours for "Arch"—
When dormitory radiators really become conveyors of heat.
When the library declares a dividend from its accrued profits from fines.
When the Orpheum goes out of business for lack of patronage.
When the lords of creation (law studes) stop laughing at Dean Mor-decai's jokes and stop idolizing Pompey Ducklegs.
When they realize they are only a part of the university, and not the whole of it, and send a representative to the Student Council.
When Cullen Hatch makes another political speech.
When we get adequate postal service.
When the work on this CHANTICLEER IS FINISHED.

The Big Three

Listen, my friends, and you shall hear
The story of the CHANCELLER,
The bums whose photos here you see
Are bosses of us boobies, all three;
And they it was who left the work
To us, the Staff, so they could shirk.

The biggest bum is Parson Brown,
Whose shacking line brought him renown,
And made him ott convoke the Staff
So he could run his awful gaff,
With smiles and wiles in darkened nooks
While we, the Staff, a bunch of nooks,
Did sweat and tune and swear at him
For shacking with so great a vim
When work was piled up to our chin.
He'd hand us out a sickly grin
When he was asked to lend a hand
(His smiles to her were something grand!)—
But grins will not a book publish,
So we, disgusted, said: "Oh, pish!"
And set about the work to do,
And called the nut a plain cuckoo.
He visited quite oft the Shack;
Not once a pretext did he lack (Nor did, indeed, he care for one);
Business to do—which wasn't done—
Did more than often take him there
(We wish they'd given him the air);
For every time he left with us
Enough of work to make us cuss,
We'll say this much for this poor cad—
That Parson Brown's a sheikin' lad.

You see the guy on Parson's right?
His name is Fuller, and he quite
Is Full o' Mud. And we can tell,
For he acquainted us too well
That he thinks he, and only he,
Must be the eyebrows of a bee.
You see his look so debonair?
Correctly dressed, with flowing hair,
And walk erect—he is a bird!
He knows his art, but not a word
Will e'er he say until you ask;
Then candidly will he unmask
Opinions which upset your views,
But out of these three nuts we'll choose
This one. For he will work quite well,
And, should he not, we'd give him—well,
He has worked more than Parson Brown;

You cannot keep a good man down,
Although he likes to strut his stuff,
And tries to run an awful bluff.
He works a little with the Staff;
He's not in love; he has no gaff
To hand us when we call on him;
Nor does he shack in corners dim
When we, like Trojans, have to work.
And, least of all, does this bird shirk,
With this we'll let his ashes rest,
And take his strutting as a jest.

You see the one with shell-rimmed specs?
He sends the bills, and then collects.
He is the only one, 'tis true,
E'er drove a bargain with a Jew.
"Cut out engraving!" was his yell;
You should have heard him glare and tell
The Chiet to cut expenses low,
For cuts were dear, and so was dough.
His name is Thompson—"Em", for short;
A bargainer, he can extort
Proverbial blood out of a beet,
And every morning he doth greet
The Editor with tales of woe
For spending recklessly his dough.
Aside from this, we have no kick
To make with one who is so slick.

O Vanity! O Vanity!
You see the background of these three?
You'll see it elsewhere in this book
If you will only turn and look.
A background smart, it there was used
To help along the Beauty views.
(It wasn't needed there, but then,
You know, the beauties were not men.)
But, thinking they could look as good,
They perched before the camera's hood,
And used the very self-same stuff,
But this poor picture called their bluff!
But, friends, don't criticize their mugs—
It's not their fault they look like thugs.
They tried to make a better view,
But photos tell what's only true.

So this, my friends, is what the Staff
Would say by way of epitaph.
We've worked our heads and hands clear off,
And all these bums could do was scoff.

BY ONE OF THE STAFF.

UNIVERSITY ORGANIZATIONS

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Trinity College Historical Society was organized April 4, 1892. Its purpose is to let the students come in contact with the members of the faculty and to give them an opportunity to listen to the sagacious wisdom of these well-trained historians. Occasionally the students present papers to the society, having previously written them as term papers for some course in history, but this is only to give the professors an increased satisfaction with their own smugness, because when they see the ignorance of the students, they can better appreciate their own great wisdom. The society has the use of a fireproof vault in the library, which is itself a fireproof building, and the valuable documents of the society are stored in this vault. Nobody knows what is in this vault, not even the professors, but then the vault is there, and so are the valuable documents. The society used to publish papers read at its meetings. Also in recent years the society has become a club for the discussion of international relations, and sends delegates to the Southern Association of International Relations Clubs, but, due to a great sentiment for past tradition, and, in part, due to inertia, the society maintains the same name that it had when organized.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

The two literary societies among the men students are Columbia and Hesperia. The membership of Columbia is made up of preachers from Rutherford College, student politicians—i. e., L. L. Wall and Al Young (successors to J. L. Jackson, et al.), and freshmen whose papas were Columbians. The membership of Hesperia is made up of Sam Bundy, Jinks Waggoner, and all those whom Columbia didn't, or couldn't, get in one way or another. As a means of self-discipline and as a bond of fellowship, these societies serve a valuable purpose in the education of young men. By bonds of fellowship we mean the bonds that initiates are required to give to assure the societies that their fines will be paid. By self-discipline we mean that an initiate, once that he is taken in, in all senses of the term, resolves never to be taken in again; such resolutions are invariably kept. Hence the disciplinary experience afforded by making young men form high resolutions, and then abide by them, is probably the greatest benefit these societies present to students. The meetings are very interesting, and are sometimes held on Saturday nights. This night is reserved especially for them, and as an inducement to those who object to going on that night, a concession is made in the form of an agreement with the athletic authorities, by which as many athletic events as possible, particularly basketball games, are staged on this night of the week; this fact relieves many objections to the regular holding of meetings by the society.

There are also two societies for women students.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

This association is a member of the State Association, and sends representatives to its conventions, where they are accorded all the recognition that is given to such institutions as Elon, Guilford, and Lenoir-Rhyne. In the east wing of the Washington Duke Building rooms are provided for the use of the association; however, during the past year the lack of a need for these rooms by the association, coupled with the growing need for them by the various organizations—such as the ministerial and brass bands—led the association to abandon these rooms to more pressing causes. Even the elections were held in Chapel. The ministerial band, especially, fills the place of the Y. M. C. A. Due to this organization, Duke University has no need, such as is experienced by other universities of like size, for a Y. M. C. A. building or for a Y. M. C. A. secretary. It is for this reason that the organization at Duke can be classed with Elon and other small institutions.

Donations are taken by the association in chapel every month.

CROWELL SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY

This society is an interdepartmental organization among the science departments, and is run for the purpose of bringing eminent speakers to this university. The value of the meetings of this society and the importance of the lecturers are so great that as many as one hundred students, including a score or so of faculty members, have been known to attend, even when a basketball game was on.

THE DEBATE COUNCIL

The Debate Council supervises and systematizes the work of debating in the university. It consists of three members of the faculty and two members each from the two literary societies. For the year 1924-25 debates were arranged with Swarthmore College, Emory University, Washington and Lee University, and North Carolina State College. These debates arouse widespread interest, due to the fact that they are held on the open forum plan, a policy which Trinity College initiated in 1924. The essence of this plan is that it does away with rivalry between schools, incorporates all the evils of the old system, and more, and develops no new virtues. In addition to these features of the open forum plan, the audience is allowed to ask the debaters questions and is also entitled to act as judges to decide the debate by popular vote, voting by family preference, personal bias, or by preconceived convictions on the subject debated. The principal object in allowing the audience to ask the speakers questions seems to be that of confusing the speaker by obscure and ambiguous questions, and the audiences have shown much ingenuity in asking such questions. A visiting student from Carolina once took fifteen minutes to ask a question, thus showing the possibilities of obscurity in lengthy questions; others have resorted to imperfect articulation, to four-syllable words, and to other devices. The interest shown in these debates is indicated by the large crowds which attend (see Exhibit A). At the Swarthmore debate, held at Swarthmore in 1925, the Duke debaters were greeted by a crowd composed of eighteen students, excluding the time-keeper and the debaters themselves. This, to be sure, was an exceptional occasion, due to the fact that one of the speakers was L. L. Wall.

EXHIBIT "A"

"GOATS"

As it Was in the Good Old Days

(Excerpts taken from the Archive for 1890-1892.)

"Among the matriculates this year are two young ladies. This is a new feature at Trinity, and it seems that we should have this as a permanent feature of the college; for the presence of young ladies adds much to the attractions of the place."

* * *

"Great improvements are being made on the street between the college and the depot. Now is the time, good people; let the work be pushed with energy."

* * *

"Mr. D. got the idea into his head that it would be a nice thing to send his girl some chin-capins. Accordingly, he forwarded her a box full of them."

* * *

"Trinity bids fair to be one of the prettiest, as well as one of the best, institutions in the South. The buildings which are being erected will be second to none in the state, and the grounds will rival in beauty any south of the Mason and Dixon line. An English landscape gardener has been employed to lay out the grounds and walks of the college property at Durham."

"Fifty boys signed a pledge last week to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors and tobacco in all its forms until after the football season. This is quite encouraging, and our captain is to be congratulated for his success."

* * *

"Those who went to Shepherd's mountain and spent the holiday report a pleasant trip. One fellow says that he was never so high before, and doesn't know that he will ever be so high again."

"'Dick Richard,' expecting to have a jolly time at the laying of the corner stone, had all the arrangements made with his girl for the day, and was expecting to make a display driving in Durham, as his previous transactions with the liveryman indicated, but, when he awoke, he found that the morning train had gone four hours before. It is well for Richard to borrow an alarm clock for such occasions."

"One of Trinity's theologues went to the country to attend church, and, of course, he was in company with a fair country girl, with whom he expected to take dinner, but she failed to invite him, and he was too modest to go without it. He was, however, equal to the emergency, and made his dinner on persimmons."

* * *

"President Crowell wears an Oxford gown when about the college. This is something new for the president, and reminds one of the fact that we are approaching the style of the English universities."

* * *

"It is said that one of the seniors sleeps in his cap and gown, but he indignantly denies the cap part of it."

"Where are the 'Owls' and the '9019'?" They almost seem to have withered into innocuous desuetude and to have gone 'where the woodbine twineth and the whangdoodle mourneth.'"

* * *

"Cycling is getting quite popular. There is now quite a number of machines among students and faculty."

* * *

"Quite a glowing account of the new College Inn was recently published in the Durham Globe."

"'Barnum' was describing the new fire engine at New Bern. He says it is a beautiful thing, is as bright as a dollar, with red wheels."

"A liberal reward will be given for the conviction of the scoundrel who started the report that the safe in which the funds of the Glee Club had been deposited was robbed several nights ago."

* * *

"The recent entertainment at G. F. C. was attended by some of Trinity's students. The young ladies should admire the heroism of these young men, who, that they might get to talk with them one hour, drove a distance of twenty miles on a cold December evening and then returned to Trinity the same night. They arrived in time to attend chapel, having had no sleep, yet in the best of humor, because they had seen their girls."

Souse: "Doutcha think—hic—ish time to—hic—take another—hic—swag?"

Mouse (a highbrow in English): "Don't—hic—shplit your—hic—infinitives, my lad."

Cosmos is a thing that can be purchased at a drug store, and is used by young ladies for their complexion.

Indigenous means affectionate—i. e., "The young man was very indigenous toward the young lady."

The Bible is a Divine revolution.

Judicial review is a magazine.

Joseph was the son of Jacob, Leah, and Rachel, respectively.

The word "peer" may be spelled several different ways: "Pier," "pear," and "pair."

Monopoly means unvaried, continual, etc.—i. e., "We went downtown to break the monopoly."

After Spenser

"A snakye stude was prancyng onne ye floore—
Ryte smarte he foxy-trotted atte ye balle—
And yn hys armes an nyfye gynche he bore—
By gadde, she was an lewlew, thatte and more."

—Yale Record.

A studious fellow named Blakeney
Said, "Horrors! My girl has forsaken me!
If she knew what she missed,
I must strongly insist,
The chances are she'd have taken me."

Gay Allen exclaimed, "I am thinking!"
The shock set the company to blinking.
"Just what do you think?"
Asked a prof, with a wink.
"Of how I could live without Mencken!"

Says Doctor Baum to Wannie Dean:
"Hello, how's tricks? Where have you bean?"
Says Wannie to Baum: "Listen, Bo,
Do you know whom you're talking too?"

The College Student's Dictionary (Unabridged)

- Athlete: An ice man on winter vacation; high potentate and chief factotum of a wide group of satellites, principally freshmen and co-eds.
- Al: Christian name of a certain student; graveyard buddy of Allen.
- Allen: Proper name; synonym for cynic; persona non grata; see Al.
- Bull: Old cow's husband; also a certain member of the faculty and a landscape architect.
- Bull-feast: A gab-fest; a rag-chewing contest; gathering of fat-chewers.
- Chapel: Hangover from the Spanish Inquisition; twenty minutes of physical and mental lapse daily; suspended animation on college campus.
- Cheer Leader: Amateur Houdini; contortionist; first cousin to a goat; latest edition of mediæval Punch and Judy show; a person elected by student body to amuse crowds during dull moments of games by various bodily contortions.
- Co-eds: The better angels of our nature; blessings in disguise (paint); sometimes used synonymously with students, for co-eds have been known to attend college for purposes of study.
- Crip: A rare bird which is indigenous on college campuses; this bird is very often hunted, and is caught by being "hopped" upon; there is a danger element in hunting crips, for often things are "hopped" which are "nightmares," "holy terrors," etc.; viz., Anglo-Saxon has been hopped for a crip; the hunter recovered.
- Chronicle (Fr. Gr., chronic, meaning weekly, as ill, meaning sick; hence, weekly, weakly, i. e., weekly, or weakly, newspaper): A college publication, being edited weekly (weakly); something to politic for; a paper edited by an editor; see goat.
- Cafeteria: Bean joint run in connection with the college laundry; a soup factory; a place which is a sure cure for indigestion, etc., if you stay away from it; Gutzon Sorgum got his start carving cafeteria steaks; hence, a training school for sculptors.
- Dramatic Club: Slapstick comedians on the make; young Barrymores and Mary Gardens.
- Dean: Diplomat; fence-straddler; partisan, non-partisan, or bi-partisan.
- Fraternity: Group of men held together by common ties, collars, shirts, etc.; college editions of the Chinese tong wars; see rushing season.
- Freshmen: The rabble; the hoi polloi; the plebeians; the common herd; advanced high school class.
- Faculty: The original Duke's Mixture; a variegated assortment of trained wet nurses; see fossils.
- Fossils: See faculty.
- Goat: One taken in, literally and figuratively, by a fraternity; also generally used; see Chronicle; also cheer leader.
- Gym: Cap Card's idea of heaven; monkey; stamping ground for athletes and seniors who flunked out.
- Glee Club: A gang of college boys whose voices cracked guzzling, siphoning, and yodeling soup; fog-horns gone wrong; imitators of the noises heard in a boiler factory, ship yards, and the zoo combined.

Holiday: A make-up day for sleeping; a day without classes; i. e., December 25 and July 4.

Line (noun): The act of lvin'; tactics used by either sex to string opposite sex; see co-ed.

Rushing Season: Open season on goats; period during which the goat is the lord of creation; period just preceding his metamorphosis from the incarnation of all virtues to the oblivion of commonplace goatship; the illusion preceding the disillusionment.

Southgate: Only institution in the United States combining the prison systems of Sing Sing and Leavenworth in which inmates are required to pay for admittance.

Student Council: Criminal lawyers serving an apprenticeship; embryonic deans.

There was a young fellow named Meacham;
When it came to the horns, he could screech 'em.
He wrinkled his nose,
And clamped with his toes,
And the highest of notes, he could reach 'em.

A fellow named Bridgers was seen
To exhale a vapor-like sheen.
He said: "I've a notion,
With patient devotion,
I'll be able to smoke like the Dean."

A FEW REASONS FOR THE OUTSTANDING POPULARITY OF

BRUNSWICK RECORDS

When playing a Brunswick Record, one will notice that there is a clarity, distinctness, and depth of musical quality in every interpretation that is only slightly touched by other Phonograph Records.

Because of Brunswick Advanced Recording Methods, the world-acclaimed artists of the New Hall of Fame record for Brunswick exclusively.

For this same reason America's foremost dance orchestras and popular vocal artists confine their art to Brunswick.

All in all, the music-loving public invariably turns to Brunswick for the newest and best recordings of the great artists and orchestras of today.

Brunswick Records may be played on any phonograph, but achieve their highest musical appeal when played on a Brunswick.

There Is Always Something New on Brunswick Records

TO THE READERS OF THIS ANNUAL

No doubt you have read these advertisements. Have you thought how much the success of the 1925 CHANTICLEER depended upon these for part of the financial outlay of the book? The business men of Durham and the surrounding territory have backed us, and they will continue to back the students of Duke University as long as the University remains here in Durham.

If you are interested in the success of the future editions of the CHANTICLEER, you should by all means patronize these merchants and show them your co-operation.
